TREATY WELCOMED ON BOTH SIDES OF ATLANTIC

Will Start Seventh Movie Here March 8 Bishop Announces

Ralph Forbes to Take Lead in "Women Against the World"; Central Films Producer Greeted By Announcement of Cut in Duty on Equipment on Return Here

Production of its seventh picture in Victoria will be started by Central Films Limited on March 8. The work of getting the studios ready for the shooting of the film, which will be among the most ambitious yet undertaken by the company, started today under the personal supervision of Kenneth J. Bishop, president and producer of the company.

Mr. Bishop arrived at the Dominion Hotel from Hollywood this morning to be greeted by the announcement of reductions in the duty on motion picture equipment contained in the budget tabled in the House of Commons at Ottawa yesterday by Finance Minister Charles Dunning.

RALPH FORBES IN LEAD

Ralph Forbes, Hollywood star who had a prominent part in "Romeo and Juliet," and whose name is familiar to all movie fans, will take the leading role in the new production. Entitled "Women Against the World," it is a story of life in a woman's penitentiary. Mr. Forbes is married to Heather Angel.

As in the case of the six previous movies made here by Central Films, "Women Against the World" will be produced under contract for Columbia Pictures Incorporated, and will be released both in the British Isles under the quota regulations and in the United States and Canada under general distribution.

Who will take the part of the leading lady in the picture is not yet known. Edgar Edwards will be the juvenile, and Collette Lynes has been chosen for the comedienne role.

The picture will be directed by David Selman, with Scott Brown as assistant director. Harry Forbes will be chief cameraman, with William Beckway as assistant, and Herb Riecke and Jack Haynes will be in charge of sound. Mrs. William Austin will be business manager.

SIT-DOWN MEN ROUTED BY GAS

Everyone in City Owes $834

Burden of National, Provincial and Civic Debts Upon Victorians Analyzed; Babies Owe It as Well as Old Men

Aside from their private bills every man woman and child in Victoria owes $834 in public debts of one kind or another, according to computation based on published debt figures.

The net national debt, announced in Ottawa yesterday stands at $3,093,495,000, or a per capita load of $281 for the 11,000,000 people in Canada.

The net debt of the provincial government, in the last budget, stood at $148,014,919 which, on the basis of a population of 747,000 gives a per capita provincial debt of $198.

On top of all this is the civic debt. The net figure of Victoria's debt is $14,258,000. Split among the 40,000 people of the city this is a per capita of $356.

Put them all together, $281 national, $198 provincial and $355 civic and the total is $834 hanging over every individual, from the old man of ninety down to the new-born babe.

If it is assumed that only one out of every four persons is actually paying the taxes that go to meet the debt—a fairly reasonable estimate—then the load on the so-called taxpayer is enlarged to about $3,300 each.

Canada Wins In Hockey Tourney

Canadian Press

A win for the Kimberley Dynamiters, representing Canada, over Switzerland tomorrow night would give them the championship.

JUDGES TO PAY INCOME TAX

Privy Council Decides Bench Not Exempt From Saskatchewan Levy

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 26.—An appeal by the judiciary of Saskatchewan seeking exemption from provincial income tax was dismissed by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council here today.

Their lordships remarked that members of the Saskatchewan Appeal Court, which originally gave judgment in favor of the province, were in an embarrassing position by being from the nature of the case personally interested in the point in controversy.

In the judgment of the lower court answering both the questions in reference affirmatively, it was pointed out the judges in question, being persons residing in Saskatchewan and in receipt of salaries from the revenues of the Dominion, were prima facie subject to taxation by the province in respect of incomes just as other residents.

TWO DECISIONS CONSIDERED
The court had before it two decisions of the Supreme Court of Canada in which a provincial tax on the salaries of civil servants was upheld.

The lordships held that this in effect disposed of the present case unless judicial emoluments were in a class apart, protected by some (Turn to Page 2, Col. 8)

VANCOUVER MAN CHARGED

Vancouver, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Allan Archer, twenty-seven, was held by Vancouver police today on a charge of dealing in a forgery, arrested in a brokerage office here yesterday, is alleged to have forged a signature on a stock certificate valued at $1,500, and to have negotiated the certificate in the brokerage office.

Sit-downers Stand Before Court After Eviction

Wants Open Inquiry Into Hedley Slump

Dr. W. B. Burnett, President of B.C. Chamber of Mines, Says Utmost Publicity Should Be Given; Government Intends to Get to Bottom of Affair

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Dr. W. B. Burnett, president of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, in a statement today urged that hearings of the investigation ordered by the British Columbia Attorney-General's department into affairs of Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mines Ltd. be open to the public.

The government inquiry, conducted by G. L. Fraser, Vancouver lawyer, opened in camera here yesterday—two days after Vancouver Stock Exchange officials had suspended trading in the Hedley company's stock.

"The worst catastrophe that has befallen the mining industry of British Columbia for some time is the debacle in connection with Hedley Amalgamated stock," Dr. Burnett said in his statement. "The industry is not in very good shape to stand this kind of publicity, either in eastern Canada or the Old Country, let alone the effect on our own citizens who have been gradually becoming more definitely mine conscious."

"The announcement in the press that the provincial government has decided to hold a private investigation comes as a distinct shock to a great many who have no interest in the matter except the welfare of the industry."

"A report to the effect that there is really nothing wrong but that all the trouble arose because the public—who have been studiously excluded from the hearings—are themselves entirely to blame because they allowed themselves to be stampeded."

The commission's plans, for the moment, are indefinite, but it will carry on with the reduced staff until the government decides exactly what will be done about the health insurance scheme.

GUNMEN ESCAPE IN ARGENTINA

Two Believed Implicated in Kidnapping of Two-year-old Eugenio Iraola. Get Away After Shooting Battle With Police Near La Plata

Associated Press
La Plata, Argentina, Feb. 26.—Antonio Caprioli, Argentina's "Public Enemy No. 1," and a companion, "Little Boy" Martinez, escaped today after a gun battle with police seeking the kidnappers of Eugenio Iraola, two-year-old son of a wealthy family.

Caprioli, known as a lieutenant of the dead gangster chieftain "Baby Face" Cordillo, and Martinez were believed implicated in the disappearance of the child Wednesday.

Little Eugenio vanished yesterday afternoon from the flower-bordered lawn of the family estate, "Las Orpallas," in the rich countryside near the summer resort of Mar del Plata, 250 miles south of Buenos Aires.

GRANDFATHER SENATOR
Eugenio, fifth of the six children of the sportsman, Pereyra Iraola and the former Dolores Santa Marina, is the grandson of the Conservative Senator, Antonio Santa Marina, and the grandnephew of Carlos Noel, President of the Argentina Chamber of Deputies. Another granduncle is Enrique Santa Marina, president of the Banco del Nacion and one of the richest men in the country.

FUEL REPORT READY SOON

Gasoline Distribution Control Said to Be Recommended to Bring Lower Prices

Canadian Press
The second portion of the British Columbia fuel commission report, dealing with coal, will be presented to the government in three or four weeks, it is expected.

The first part of the report, covering the oil and petroleum industries, was filed last fall. It has not been made public as the government decided to wait until the complete report was submitted before announcing the findings.

The section dealing with oil is reported to embody several drastic recommendations, involving a reduction in the number of gasoline distributing stations and wide government control over the industry, having in view a lessening of overhead costs to provide cheaper gasoline.

The section dealing with coal is now nearing completion. It is understood, and probably will be submitted by the end of next month.

The compiling of the report is an extensive job, as it involves the arrangement of thousands of pages of testimony taken at hearings throughout the province and expert investigation of the production, distribution and economic setup of the two industries.

The commission, headed by Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, began work in November, 1934, and proceeded at intervals, the commissioner having to attend to his appeal court duties as well. He carried on the inquiry during court recesses.

EULER'S TRADE TALKS SUCCEED

Australian Premier This Week-end to Consider Remaining Issues With Canada

Canadian Press
Sydney, Australia, Feb. 26.—Weeks of intensive discussion at Cranberra between the trade ministers of Canada and Australia—Hon. W. D. Euler and Sir Henry Gullitt—have improved the position of the negotiations. It was announced today to a point where a series of outstanding issues will be submitted to Prime Minister Joseph A. Lyons at Melbourne this week-end.

Although no official announcement has been made, it was understood progress has been so satisfactory that Mr. Euler will carry out his plan to sail for home from Sydney at the end of March.

If the agreement is not completed by that time, negotiations will be sufficiently advanced, it is hoped, that it will be possible to complete them by an intergovernmental exchange of notes.

Analysis of Far-flung Results of Treaty Now Before Commons in Ottawa Brings Favorable Opinions From Different Quarters; Packers Pleased; Textile Men Offer Criticism of Reduction in Woolen and Cotton Duties; Steel Industry Not Disturbed

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 26.—Business men's reaction to the budget and new Canadian-British trade agreement presented in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, pointed today toward a mixture of opinion.

The packers were pleased that the British quota on Canadian bacon and hams is continued. The boot and shoe trade expressed little concern. The textile industry tended toward criticism. A steel spokesman said that industry was not disturbed in its programme.

Numerous other comments were made as the country awaited the start of the budget debate in the Commons next Tuesday.

BACON AND BEEF EXPORTS
J. McLean, president of Canada Packers Limited, interviewed in Toronto, expressed satisfaction that the quota on bacon, hams and beef imported by the United Kingdom from Canada, would be continued. "Mr. Dunning is to be congratulated on this fact and on obtaining the most favorable terms that Canadian producers could expect," he said. "It assures an outlet for Canadian hogs that is quite adequate."

GREETED BY FARMERS
In Peterborough, Ont., H. B. Cowan, secretary of Canadian dairy farmers' federations representing 150,000 organized farmers, said it was gratifying to farmers that the Canadian Government had reached such "an important and favorable agreement."

"National farmer unions of the United Kingdom," he said, "backed by strong Conservative support in the British House, have been urging importation of levies and quotas on imports of farm products, and the government there issued a white paper almost committing it to that policy. Farmer organizations in Canada and the other Dominions contacted their governments to combat that policy."

TENTILE FIELD
Reductions in the tariff on British textile goods under the new United Kingdom-Canada trade agreement were seen by Dr. A. O. Dawson, president of Canadian Cottons Ltd., as a serious blow to the industry. Dr. Dawson said "cuts in the present rate are serious in view of the reductions made last year."

In Ottawa, Major Douglas Hallam, secretary of the Primary Textile Institute, said it was impossible at present to forecast "the cumulative effect of these reductions," but expressed hope the reductions "will not result in diminishing employment by untidily increasing the importations of textiles from Great Britain."

Preference Aids B.C. Lumbering

British Market Is Backbone of Industry's Employment, Says H. R. MacMillan On Renewal of Trade Pact; Now Takes Eight Times As Much As in 1931

Renewal of British preferences for Canadian lumber in the new trade agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom is of the greatest importance to British Columbia's big lumbering industry, according to H. R. MacMillan, head of H. R. MacMillan Export Co.

"It is the backbone of employment in our industry today," said Mr. MacMillan, who is visiting Victoria to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary dinner of the B.C. forest branch.

The renewal of the preference, he said, was the most important issue facing the industry, and now that it was settled until 1940, operations could go ahead with an assured entry into the British market.

"You could almost call it the sine qua non of our export business," said Mr. MacMillan, pointing out that 89 per cent of the entire overseas lumber export from British Columbia goes to Empire countries. Of these, the United Kingdom takes the lion's share and is the biggest factor.

In 1936, out of 1,043,000,000 board feet of lumber exported overseas from British Columbia, the United Kingdom alone took 666,000,000, or about 66 per cent, eight times as much as in 1931.

The preference was granted to Canadian lumber in the Empire trade agreements of 1932. It came at a time when British Columbia lumber had been virtually shut out of its big United States market by tariffs.

In 1931, this province shipped only 81,000,000 feet to the United Kingdom. When the preference started to operate on April 1, 1932, this rose to 108,000,000 feet and in 1933, first full year of its operation, was 271,000,000. Each year since then it has climbed steadily up to last year's all-time peak of 666,000,000.

The saving is MORE APPARENT than real

To appoint members of the family as executors may seem reasonable upon first thought.

They are the principal beneficiaries. They would look after their own interests. The executor's remuneration would be saved. Unfortunately, the saving is more apparent than real.

When they come to deal with probate duties, income tax returns, succession duty computations, appraisal of assets, selection and diversification of investments, and modern accounting practice, every step taken would prove perplexing.

With this Company as executor the assets of the estate are separated from all others. Make certain your dependents will enjoy that sense of security and relief which only an experienced trust company can bring to them.

MINED LINER REACHES PORT

Passengers Disembark From British Ss. Llandovery Castle at Port Vendres, Spain

Canadian Press from Havre
Port Vendres, France, Feb. 26.—The 10,600-ton British liner Llandovery Castle, filled with water through a hull ripped by a Spanish under-water mine, was manoeuvred into the harbor here this morning and all the 300 passengers disembarked.

The liner made the port here under her own power last night after hitting a submerged mine off Cape Creus, a Spanish promontory in the Mediterranean not far from the French border.

GOVERNMENT INQUIRY

London, Feb. 26.—The British Government is making searching inquiries into the mining of the liner Llandovery Castle.

Official information so far received has not made clear whether the mine was laid by the insurgents or the Spanish government, or whether the mine had broken loose from its moorings and was drifting loose.

mated Gold Mines Ltd. stock and the various rumors and reports to which it was attributed.

It was not indicated whether the government would consider a writ of investigation, as suggested by Dr. Burnett in Vancouver, under the Public Inquiries Act. Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Mines, said that since the Attorney-General's department had the matter in hand he preferred to make no comment.

The Securities Act provides for a private inquiry by the Attorney-General's commissioner. It was explained. On the basis of his report, the government may then take further action, either by prosecution, if it is thought necessary, or by a wider investigation.

Whatever procedure is followed, it was indicated the government intends to press its investigations fully to get to the bottom of the Hedley affair.

GAUMONT-BRITISH TO CLOSE STUDIOS

Associated Press
London, Feb. 26.—Financial difficulties of the British film industry found a new sequel today in announcement that the Shepherds Bush studios of Gaumont British Pictures Limited, England's oldest and largest producers, will be closed for film production.

By agreement with General Film Distributors, who will pay half the costs, Gaumont British will, however, produce four pictures at the Pinewood studios and four at Gainsborough, and continue sound news making.

Peca, Hungary, Feb. 26.—A "suicide" strike of 250 miners for a wage increase collapsed today and the men, half-dazed from hunger and many bleeding from wounds suffered in an underground fight, staggered out of the shaft.

J. S. Farnsworth, Former Lieut.-commander, Sentenced at Washington to 4 to 12 Years

Associated Press
Washington, Feb. 26.—John S. Farnsworth, grey and broken, was sentenced today to four to twelve years imprisonment for betraying to the Japanese secrets of the United States fleet he once served as a lieutenant-commander.

Farnsworth threw himself on the mercy of the court by pleading nolo contendere to an indictment charging conspiracy with two Japanese naval aides to communicate naval secrets.

"This was a continuous and persistent plot cleverly carried out by you and emissaries of a foreign country, masquerading under diplomatic guise and hiding behind diplomatic immunity," Justice Proctor said.

"Through deception, stealth, thievery and imposition on your friends in the naval service, you succeeded in obtaining confidential information and delivering it to these emissaries for money."

"If we had been at war, your acts would have been treason and punishable by the severest penalty."

Farnsworth's career as an officer in the line and aviator ended in dismissal from the United States navy a decade ago.

Aircraft Plant Strikers Jailed

Sit-down Men in Douglas Factory in California Evacuated Building

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 26.—Striking men who had received federal Labor Board orders to leave the Douglas Aircraft Corporation would get an early hearing, 341 sit-down strikers were in jail today awaiting arraignment and possible release on bond.

William Busick and Andrew Schmolzer, organizers for the United Automobile Workers, aircraft division, obtained their release late last night on $10,000 bonds and today were organizing pickets, declaring the strike would go on.

The sit-down strikers, who had occupied the aircraft plant for three days, surrendered late yesterday after a tense afternoon in which violence at times seemed inevitable. More than 300 police officers armed with machine guns, tear gas bombs, clubs and pistols surrounded the plant.

READY TO NEGOTIATE
Donald W. Douglas, corporation president, who previously had refused to negotiate, issued a statement which said, in part:

"Now that the workers agitating a strike are no longer occupying our plant, we stand ready and willing to carry out the company's labor policy maintained over a period of four years to meet with representatives of any legitimate labor group and discuss any and all grievances claimed, demands sought or differences that may have arisen."

"With speedy construction of more than $15,000,000 worth of army and navy planes our responsibility, we feel justified in fullest protection of every arm of public safety."

Thirty police and sheriff's deputies guarded the plant today.

REPORTS FROM MADRID VARY

Insurgents Claim Loyalists' Attack Broken; Loyalists Say Positions Consolidated

Associated Press
Avila, Spain, Feb. 26.—The insurgent command asserted today the general government offensive on the Madrid front had collapsed after an entire battalion of Madrid militiamen had been annihilated by machine gun fire and hand grenades.

The number of soldiers caught in the wholesale slaughter was not estimated, but insurgent officers said the battalions usually numbered between 600 and 1,000.

The government battalion was reported to have attacked an insurgent concentration near the Segovia Bridge over the Manzanares River on the western edge of the city in a desperate attempt, the insurgents said, to break up the siege lines.

They decided to maintain their demand for honorable discharge and passage back to England with pay. They also decided they would sign off the articles under protest and through their union would sue the owners for damages. Their captain, Joseph Robinson, cabled to England to obtain permission to discharge the men.

Boston, Feb. 26.—A group of seamen met today in the fo'c'sle of the British freighter Linaria and reaffirmed their demand to be relieved of transporting nitrate to Fascists in war-torn Spain. A stay-in strike had prevented the steamship from sailing last night and they decided to continue it.

Norman J. Dawes, president of National Breweries, expressed disappointment today at the new tariff's reduction in the British preferential duty on ale, beer, stout and porter. "In the face of enormous taxes and restrictions on sales in different provinces," he said, "this will bring additional hardship to the brewer."

CIGARETTE SALES
Montreal, Feb. 26.—Removal of the 25 per cent ad valorem duty on cigarettes under the British preference in the new tariff will mean little to Canada's tobacco industry, Walter M. Stewart, president of the MacDonald Tobacco Company, said here today.

The number of cigarettes imported into Canada was very small, he declared.

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 26.—The British press generally accorded a warm welcome today to the new Anglo-Canadian trade treaty.

The London Times hoped the new pact would result in increased trade on a more equal footing.

"The two governments," the Times said, "have omitted from the new document the provisions governing the imposition of duties in Canada on British goods and the work of the Canadian tariff board."

"The old agreement justified itself by results. Canadian exports to Great Britain increased by nearly 70 per cent between 1932 and 1936, and British exports to Canada by about 25 per cent. Under the present agreement this improvement should be continued, possibly with less discrepancy between the benefits accruing to the two sides."

"Some foreign countries may complain of the maintenance of mutual preference at the old levels. To this there is a twofold reply. The countries of the British Commonwealth have a special interest in promoting mutual trade, and their added prosperity enables them to increase their purchases from countries outside the Empire to the general benefit of world trade."

NEW BASIS SEEN
The London News-Chronicle, Liberal, said the pact deserved a warm welcome. At the Ottawa conference, the paper said, the method of encouraging Empire trade was to leave intact intra-Empire tariffs and build a high wall around the Empire.

"Now there is a new and very different Ottawa agreement," the paper commented. "Under the leadership of Prime Minister King, Canada has decided to lower her customs duties on a long list of British goods. There are plenty of tariff reductions and not a single increase. It will serve to increase Empire trade without merely impoverishing foreign countries who are among our best customers."

The Privy Council found there was no foundation in the realities of the situation for any such conception. Neither the independence nor any other attribute of the judiciary could be affected by a general income tax which charged their official incomes on the same footing as other citizens.

Judges in British Columbia pay both provincial and federal income taxes, according to income tax department officials in Victoria.

The case in Saskatchewan arose when the government at Regina sought to assess Saskatchewan judges for provincial income tax, based on their salaries, which are received from the Dominion Government. Most of the judges were willing to be assessed, but a few took the stand that the province did not have the right to assess provincial income tax on federal salaries.

Quebec Caucus Ousts Member

Union Nationale Bars R. Chaloult, Then Votes
Premier Duplessis Confidence

Quebec, Feb. 26.—A unanimous vote of confidence in Premier M. L. Duplessis was given yesterday at a caucus of Union Nationale members of the Legislature, according to a statement of party officials.

Early yesterday Rene Chaloult, Union Nationale member of the Legislative Assembly for Kamouraska, had told newspapermen he had been ousted from the party caucus after his colleagues of the government had told him he was unwelcome in their councils.

Mr. Chaloult said Premier Duplessis asked him to leave the caucus, but he refused, claiming the right to remain as a member of the party. He left the room, he said, after Hon. John S. Bourque, Minister of Public Works, had taken him by the arm.

"Mr. Duplessis is an even greater tyrant than Mr. Taschereau," former Liberal premier, Mr. Chaloult said.

"There is nothing, absolutely nothing, nationalist about the party. Our party, of which Mr. Duplessis has set himself up as leader without right, is tired of it. The people, all of whose interests he has betrayed, will turn him out."

JARVIS APPEAL

Toronto, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—The Ontario Court of Appeal yesterday reserved judgment in the case of Aemilius Jarvis, who sought a new trial on the charge of conspiracy on which he was convicted in 1924. The charge arose out of the purchase of succession duty-free bonds by Mr. Jarvis and A. H. Pepall.

Canada's Outlays To Be $520,000,000

Commons Informed By Dunning Total Expenditures
in 1937-38 Fiscal Year Will Reach That Total

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Canada's expenditures in the fiscal year, April 1, 1937-March 31, 1938, were estimated at $520,000,000 in the budget speech of Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, yesterday.

Revenues are expected to be $485,000,000, leaving a net anticipated deficit of $35,000,000.

"The House will recall," said Mr. Dunning, "that the main estimates, which are intended to provide for the ordinary operations of government, call for appropriations of $410,467,000, and I expect the various departments, under the consistent pressure which is being exerted to effect economies and hold down expenditures, to keep their actual expenditures below the aggregate appropriations by as much as $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

"The special supplementary estimates which will be tabled shortly and are intended to make provisions for those special or emergency needs arising out of the abnormal conditions now prevailing, indicate a maximum total expenditure of about $96,000,000. Later, the usual provision will be necessary by way of ordinary supplementary estimates for a moderate amount of further expenditures.

SALARY CUTS RESTORED

"In this connection, I wish to announce the government has decided to recommend to the House the restoration of the 5 per cent reduction from civil servant salaries effective from the beginning of the new fiscal year, and the necessary provision will have to be made in the supplementary estimates."

"Making allowance for these additional expenditures, we may estimate the total expenditure for 1937-38 at about $520,000,000.

"The House will realize that at this early date it is very difficult to estimate the revenues for next year with the same assurance as in previous budgets. However, judging by the way revenues have been running during the last few months, and based on the outlook for the next twelve months, I estimate that for the fiscal year 1937-38 our present tax structure will produce an aggregate revenue of $485,000,000 derived from the usual sources as follows:

TAXATION REVENUE
Excise duties	$ 90,000,000
Income tax	47,500,000
Income tax	11,500,000
Sales tax	131,000,000
Manufacturers' stamp, import duties and other special taxes	42,000,000
Banks and insurance companies	2,000,000
Total taxation	$425,000,000
NON-TAX REVENUE
Post Office receipts	$6,000,000
Interest on investments	11,400,000
Others	11,500,000
Total non-tax revenue	$28,900,000
Grand total revenue	$453,900,000

"This estimate takes no account of any special receipts and credits and represents a lower rate of increase than took place during the present year even after making allowance for that portion of this year's increase in receipts which was due to increased tax rates," said Mr. Dunning.

DEFICIT $35,000,000

"If this estimate of total revenue is realized and if aggregate expenditures are kept within the estimated figure of $520,000,000, the overall deficit for the coming year should not exceed $35,000,000. Stating my expectations in another way, I shall be greatly disappointed if we cannot keep our total deficit within the limit represented by the net cash deficit of the Canadian National Railways system.

LIQUIDATION IS GOAL

"If we can attain this objective in 1937-38, I am confident it should not be beyond powers to wipe out the deficit altogether during the following year and begin the period when progress can be made in liquidating the accumulated deficits which have been funded during the depression. That is the goal which we must steadily keep in sight."

Postal Service Funds Voted

Outside Staff

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—After an evening of tedious debate on various local criticisms, the Commons just before adjournment last night passed an appropriation of $32,237,938 for the outside service of the Post Office Department, an increase of $1,310,211 over last year.

From patronage the casual discussion turned to the service in Toronto, where postmen let dogs bite them, then the lack of it in the Peace River district, back to patronage and on to the Civil Service commission.

Rene Pelletier, Social Credit, Peace River, wanted something better than Tuesday-and-Friday mail delivery for the 70,000 people living in his district. Nowhere else in Canada were so many people getting so little service, he said.

Saturday afternoon deliveries were criticized as unnecessary by half-a-dozen members of all parties.

J. A. Marshall, Social Credit, Camrose, Alta., complained against an alleged 50 per cent increase in postal franking since the present government came into power.

BUDGET DEBATE NEXT TUESDAY

Trade Treaty Laid Before
Commons Will Bring
Woolen and Cotton Goods
From Britain Into Canada
at Lower Duties; Other Reductions in Various Fields

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Debate on the budget will open in the Commons next Tuesday with Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, leading off for the Opposition.

The budget address, encompassed by the mass of detail involved in the new Canadian-British trade agreement, kept Finance Minister Dunning on his feet almost three hours yesterday afternoon. At the close of his address he tabled the agreement itself, which was signed in Ottawa early this week and made public yesterday in London and Ottawa.

Replacing and altering in many directions the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement effected at the Ottawa conference of 1932, the new pact embodies the most sweeping changes in the preferential tariff since that policy was adopted in 1897. Its provisions became effective today.

WOOL REDUCTIONS

Practically all the major items in the wool schedule figure in the list of reductions under the new agreement.

The following wool products are among those which will enter Canada from the United Kingdom at lower duties than hitherto: Woolen and worsted yarns, whether for manufacturing purposes or for counter sale; pressed felt and wool filter cloth; blankets of all kinds; woolen and worsted fabrics "in the grey," imported for finishing in Canada; practically all lines and weights of woolen and worsted cloths, including suitings and overcloths; woolen clothing of all kinds and many unenumerated articles manufactured from or containing wool.

In silk and artificial silk goods there are many important reductions, including those on woven fabrics of all kinds, embroideries, laces, braids and cords, and clothing and wearing apparel wholly or in part of artificial silk.

The duties are reduced on knitted garments, knitted underwear and knitted goods of all kinds, as well as on hosiery, gloves and mitts, rugs and carpets and linoleum.

In cotton goods the reductions will affect printed, dyed or colored fabrics, shadow-cloth, gabardines and certain cutpile fabrics, cotton handkerchiefs, bookbinders' cloth and certain fine cotton fabrics.

COTTON AND OTHER ARTICLES

Although the new agreement with the United Kingdom was credited with most of the tariff changes announced yesterday by Mr. Dunning, there were, nevertheless, several reductions in duty with substantial bearing on foreign trade.

Among the more important of these non-treaty changes are those in cotton clothing, plate glass and printing plates for magazines.

In addition there were several reductions under the British preference which were accompanied by lower duties in the intermediate and general tariffs. These include, among others, decorative marble, forged steel rolls and seamless oil casings.

FROM UNITED STATES

The United States garment industry will be particularly affected by removal of the specific duty of one and one-half cents a pound under the intermediate tariff on cotton clothing and other articles made wholly of cotton.

The ordinary duty of 25 per cent under the British preference, 30 per cent under the intermediate tariff, and 35 per cent under the general remains, and countries without most-favored-nation agreements with Canada will still face a four-cent-a-pound specific duty on cotton garments under the general tariff.

GLASS IMPORTS

Plate glass is another item of which a large quantity is imported from foreign countries and under the intermediate tariff the duty will now be 20 instead of 25 per cent. It continues free under the British preference and has a duty of 25 per cent under the general tariff.

Plates used for printing magazines in Canada formerly faced a duty of 7½ per cent under the intermediate tariff and 25 per cent under the general. They are now free under the intermediate.

This will chiefly affect United States magazines printed in Canadian plants from plates sent over the border weekly or monthly. The general rate is unchanged.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

With reductions in duty on British textiles and cosmetics, under the new agreement, it will cost women in Canada less to be beautiful. And the housewife who uses British utensils and tinware also is benefited generally.

Duty on woven fabrics is reduced 27½ per cent to 22½ per cent. It is believed woolen dresses and suits will be cheaper in Canada. Also, the sharp decrease in the tariff on British

JAPAN LEADER LEAVES CHINA

Departure of Lt.-Gen. K. Doihara, "Lawrence of Manchuria," Pleases Chinese

Associated Press
Peking, Feb. 26.—North China's leaders breathed a discreet sigh of relief today as Japan's "Lawrence of Manchuria" was shunted into a new post near Tokyo yesterday, far from the scene of his Manchukuo triumphs.

Appointment yesterday of Lieut.-Gen. Kenji Doihara, prime mover in wresting Manchuria from China and converting it into the Japanese-dominated "empire of Manchukuo," to command the Japanese Fourteenth Division at Utsu-no-Miya, northeast of Tokyo, was welcomed by Chinese officials.

China felt assured "the master of intrigue," whose machinations it credited with keeping China in turmoil more than a decade, thus would not return immediately to continue Japan's "sacred mission" of spreading Japanese culture on the Asiatic mainland.

MORE TROOPS SENT

Chinese vernacular newspapers at Shanghai and Tientsin, meanwhile, were aroused by reports Japan is strengthening her north China forces under the guise of "sending replacements."

Newspaper dispatches said North China garrisons were being increased from 16,000 to 20,000, with part of the troops scheduled to land at Tientsin and others to proceed into North China through Manchukuo.

Nanking authorities said "any landing of foreign forces at Tientsin would definitely violate China's sovereignty."

and therefore we disbelieve such reports."

Doihara's reputation as a trouble-maker grew out of the "coincidence" that he seemed always to be present at any point where trouble broke out.

Narcotic Addicts Busy as Thieves

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—Drug addicts cost Vancouver citizens more than $2,500 a day in stolen property, Magistrate H. S. Wood said in police court yesterday in commenting on the case of an alleged addict brought before him on a shoplifting charge. The magistrate said Royal Canadian Mounted Police officials had told him there were more than 500 addicts in the city, each requiring $5 a day to obtain drugs sufficient to satisfy him. Unable to obtain and retain steady employment, he said, they turned to theft to obtain funds for the purchase of narcotics.

GIFTS DUTY FREE

Ottawa, Feb. 26 (Canadian Press).—Christmas presents and other gifts of a value not exceeding $5 each will hereafter enter Canada free of duty.

The provision formerly was such gifts came in free if the duty payable would not be more than $1, but this was changed when Finance Minister Dunning brought down the budget in the House of Commons yesterday.

DIET LIST SAYS
NO FRIED FOODS—
UNLESS CRISCO
IS USED!

THAT'S WHAT IT SAYS—BECAUSE
CRISCO FRIED FOODS
ARE AS WHOLESOME
INSIDE AS IF BAKED!

"Here is my honest and enthusiastic letter on the digestibility of Crisco."

"As a trained nurse in a doctor's office, it was often necessary to put a taboo on fried foods. I had protests from many patients; such as: 'Why, I have never had indigestion since I began using Crisco.' At these patients' suggestions, I myself, began to use Crisco. There are three doctors in this family and we are all agreed on the quick digestibility of Crisco. Pastry and fried foods are also so crisp and attractive when Crisco is used. Fried food restrictions are now qualified to—unless Crisco is used."

Mrs. Geraldine Sanger

oil. Then, get this—Crisco fries in a healthful way—it doesn't soak and soak into your doughnuts or fritters or French-fried potatoes. It cooks the outside instantly and forms a protection, like the skin of a baked potato—and therefore, the inside is as light and mellow as if baked. And there'll be no smoke nor smells in your kitchen because Crisco won't smoke at proper frying temperatures.

You can prove all this yourself by trying today's Crisco recipe. It's an easy way to make delicious codfish balls. Enjoy the crispy texture outside and the creamy goodness that is inside. Then, later when your digestion gives the verdict, you, too, will say "Digestible!"

Once you've tried Crisco for frying, you'll naturally be interested in Crisco cakes and pies. And they'll fulfil your hopes—you'll get lighter cakes with ready-creamed Crisco—with no hard beating that tires your arm! You'll get flakier, lighter pie crust that's so different from the over-rich, greasy, old-fashioned kind. Crisco's fresh sweetness makes them taste good—Crisco's digestibility makes them good for you!

CODFISH BALLS

You can't find an easier or finer recipe for codfish balls than this one. You see, made with Crisco, they're fried the digestible way—the way so many doctors advise! And good! Try them and enjoy crisp tasty morsels that make you hungry for more!

3 medium-sized potatoes 1 egg ¼ cup milk
1 cup dried codfish Crisco for frying
Pare potatoes. Cut into cubes. Add codfish. Cover with water. Bring to boil. Pour off water, add fresh water. Continue cooking until tender. Drain and mash. Add beaten egg and milk. Now here's the way to fry digestible—use Crisco, the pure vegetable fat. Drop codfish mixture by tablespoons into deep hot Crisco heated to 375° F. (Or test with a bread cube; when it browns in 40 seconds, Crisco is at the right temperature.) Another way of cooking is to pan fry: Form codfish mixture into patties and brown in a frying pan with 5 tablespoons of Crisco, the digestible frying fat. Fry until well browned. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with Egg Sauce.

Egg Sauce: Blend 2 tablespoons of sweet pure Crisco with 2 tablespoons flour. Stir in 1 cup of hot milk. Cook slowly until sauce is thick, stirring to keep smooth. Just before serving add 2 chopped hard-boiled eggs and seasonings to taste.

All Measurements Level. Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co. Crisco is tested and approved by Chasteline Institute, maintained by Chasteline Magazine.

A Good Dunning Budget

TWO OF THE MOST OUTSTANDING features of the budget speech which Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Canada's Minister of Finance, delivered in the House of Commons at Ottawa yesterday were his assurance that there would be no increased taxation and that there would be a new incentive for greater external trade by the reduction of import duties on a substantial range of commodities.

Although hailed in many quarters at home and abroad as wise and statesmanlike, his budget of 1937, for some never adequately explained reason, did not commend itself to the majority of the Canadian voters when they went to the polls in the summer of that year. It and the King government were thrown into the discard. Apparently it was "a change" the people wanted. They suffered under it for five years; but they took the first opportunity to remedy a very costly mistake by sending back another King government with a majority in the House bigger than that ever enjoyed by any political party since Confederation. That was in 1935, and the budget Mr. Dunning presented to Parliament yesterday was the second under the present regime.

It was obvious, of course, that the Minister of Finance had to tell the people that the country's business shows a debit balance; but he was able to point to a deficit amounting to $87,000,000 compared with one of $159,000,000 a year ago. Encouraged by this substantial achievement, Mr. Dunning is hopeful when budget day comes round next year that if there shall not be a credit balance, there will at least be little difference between the amount taken in and the amount expended. As the Minister quite properly warned the House, however, while economic conditions are improving from month to month, external trade well maintaining its increase, there still are domestic problems awaiting solution—problems which for some time to come will demand the insistent attention of the government and the people of the country as a whole.

Canada naturally is not expecting any domestic disturbance which may tend to hamper Mr. Dunning's determined intention to present to the Canadian people a balanced budget next year. True, the government has found it necessary to adopt a policy which one or two of its newspaper critics describe as "piffing politics"—which, on interpretation, means that any administration at Ottawa failing to spend half its income on armaments is something approaching the lowest form of imperial life.

In this year's financial presentation, of course, the Minister of Finance has had to make allowances for the exigencies which an armament-crazy world has imposed upon nearly all governments. It is to be hoped the insidious war germ will be effectively laid by the heels—if it has any—in the not distant future. In that case, Canada, as well as all those nations with whom she is living and trading peacefully, will prosper accordingly.

The government at Ottawa, to say nothing of the governments of the nine provinces, in recent years have had to steel themselves against importunities in manifold form. Since the end of the Great War there has developed a gradual tendency on the part of minor governmental bodies, of myriad overlapping organizations established to do "this or that," to go hat in hand for monetary assistance and to assume the attitude of the sulky child if that assistance has not been forthcoming.

So that it is well to note the reason for Mr. Dunning's warning that, hopeful though the economic outlook for Canada may be at the moment, there still has to be faced a national debt of more than $3,000,000,000 and all the carrying charges which it involves. This is a stern item of national bookkeeping which demands the most careful and consistent attention of the 11,000,000 people who are proud to call themselves Canadians.

There is no need for Canadians to worry themselves unduly about the size of the obligation they have been called upon to carry. In the vast expanse of territory which is Canada there is an abundance of natural wealth beckoning to sturdy young men and young women with healthy aspirations and the will to do things for themselves and the country in which they live. As they measure up to the ideals which it ought to be safe to say they cherish, so will this Dominion gradually shake off the economic shackles which are properly emphasized in Mr. Dunning's budget speech.

The International Mind

MR. CHARLES A. MAGRATH, AN imposing Dominion and international figure who is well known throughout the North American continent, spoke before the Rotary Club yesterday about peace, pointing to examples which might, with profit, be emulated by all the nations of the world.

Mr. Magrath was former chairman of the Canadian section of the International Waterways Commission which has been operating between Canada and the United States since 1902, and through whose offices the various problems which have cropped up from time to time between this Dominion and the neighboring republic have been disposed of amicably and with mutual satisfaction. At times, of course, as the records show, divisions of opinion on territorial subjects have been acute; but not so acute as to have prevented the discovery of an effective formula for settlement.

With all this experience behind him, therefore, it was fitting that Mr. Magrath should talk to such an influential international service body as the Rotary Club. Perhaps, one of these days, the countries of the Old World will take a leaf out of the New World's book of behaviour and profit by it.

Meanwhile, Mr. Magrath and other internationally-minded persons are rendering fine service in giving voice to the ideals to which humanity as a whole is trying to cling.

The Right Way

HON. CHARLES A. DUNNING'S budget speech yesterday was a typical reflection of liberal thought. Its essence was that of democracy—and democracy, of course, is based upon liberal thought—directed in large part as far as we are concerned, to the expansion of business between this country and the rest of the world. It will make for a freer interchange of commodities between nation and nation, which, in itself, is the corollary of economic progress and international prosperity.

It is not with any intention of raking over the ashes of a costly economic tragedy that we refer here to the fiscal policies upon which the Bennett government embarked soon after it assumed office in the August of 1930. The fact remains, nevertheless, that one of the most damaging factors in Canada's economic decline toward the end of that year was due very substantially to the tariff acrobatics in which the successor to the King administration indulged.

As we have said in these columns many times since the fall of 1930, it would be unfair to place all the blame upon the Bennett government for an external business which had reached a point in value of more than $2,600,000,000 and had dropped to a value in less than three years to one of less than $900,000,000. But the wobbly economic policies it pursued during the first year it was in office contributed alarmingly to the economic bruises Canada sustained in the world-wide commercial debacle.

Mr. Dunning proposes to carry out the policies which the King government introduced in 1921, which it pursued until the Canadian people finally wanted "a change" in 1930; and in so doing he is helping to advance Canada's external buying and selling account toward the $2,000,000,000 mark again.

Happened Over There

DUSSELDORF IS TO BECOME THE capital of one of the new administrative divisions into which Germany is now being divided. To mark the growing importance of the town, a Great Man recently came down from Berlin to hold a military and party review. All night long, soldiers patrolled the streets near the hotel where the Great Man slept, and in the morning the whole of Dusseldorf turned out to watch the display of marching, the uniforms and the brass bands.

The Week, London, tells how at last the big moment arrived when the Great Man was to perform the ceremony of unfurling the Nationalist Socialist flag. The flag was neatly wrapped up in a case and was to appear when a string was jerked.

The Great Man stepped forward, jerked the string. The crowd gasped, there was general consternation, as a red flag floated out on the morning breeze. Undaunted, the Great Man drew his revolver and shot the flag.

Yes, it was in Hitler's boasted all-Nazi Germany it happened.

The memory of a world-renowned Russian chemist, D. I. Mendeleev, is to be honored on the occasion of the thirtieth anniversary of his death by the erection of a monument in Leningrad, where he carried on his researches. Mendeleev is famed chiefly for his work in arranging all the elements in what is known as the periodic table, which groups them according to their atomic weights and also their chemical properties. This table has enabled chemists to predict with considerable accuracy the qualities to be expected of rare elements before their actual isolation. The Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R. has undertaken the publication of a comprehensive biography of Mendeleev.

TEN PACES

THEY PACED EACH OTHER in the very shadow of the "English Colonial Church"—the desperado and the gentleman. It was that hour when the sounds of life are muted. The last light of the setting sun shone full on the scene, standing proudly erect a young Englishman waited. His adversary, a dark-visaged blood-thirsty ruffian stood with lowering and sullen look. Typical of his breed he despised the things he didn't understand—never could achieve—the finer qualities of a gentleman. This hatred prompted his lust to kill. The moment arrived:

"Are you ready?"

As these words rang out, a solemn hush swept over the spectators.

"Fire!"

Two reports shattered the stillness and the watchers heard a cry as one man crumpled to the earth, shot through the heart.

IN THE YEAR 1862, newspaper headlines throughout the country screamed, "Gold in the Cariboo." People frantic to seize their share of the new-found wealth, stampeded from all parts of the world. Shipping along the California Coast was brisk and the voyages eventful. In this feverish atmosphere a ship put to sea from San Francisco bound for Victoria, B.C. This journey at the time was a hazardous undertaking. Adventure, danger, and excitement were thrown together with one common purpose. Everyone was affected by the reckless spirit of the day which closely resembled the frenzy of wartime. The future was shrouded in uncertainty—people lived for the day. In such straining times, men's nerves are taut and tempers brittle. Friendships are formed or enemies incurred with equal swiftness.

In this restless scene, three people stood out. Distracted with grief, a beautiful girl faced the trip and was buried at sea. A young Englishman, desperately in love, showered his attentions upon her with all the alacrity of youth. Later it was discovered that her mother's purse had disappeared with all her money. It is significant that her monetary loss coincided with the first appearance of a burly ruffian called Jack Liverpool, who began to force his attentions on the young lady. The bewildered orphan did not encourage Liverpool's advances, but neither did she repel them. Like all bad men, he could, by his very boldness, charm and captivate a woman.

The Englishman distrusted his rival and resented his insolent, possessive manner towards the girl. This eventually led to a fiery outbreak in which the Englishman gave the bully a severe beating. To avert further trouble, friends kept the two apart until the ship sailed into Esquimaux Harbour.

VICTORIA, IN THOSE DAYS, was thronged with people drawn from the earth's four corners. Permanent dwellings could not be erected speedily enough to accommodate the influx, so tents were put up everywhere. Forests of oak, fir and cedar grew where today the pavements run straight and white. Swamps edged with rushes and starred with waterlilies covered the area now occupied by stone, brick and mortar. Our ship from San Francisco added her passengers to the infant city's population.

Suddenly a rumor spread like wildfire. A desperate Californian outlaw had been recognized and warnings were posted to be on guard. Simultaneously with this intelligence came reports that Liverpool and the girl, who had been mysteriously missing since the fight on the boat, were occupying the same tent.

The Englishman, deeply injured at this being rebuffed by the woman he loved, swore he would kill Liverpool if she had been harmed. Friends again prevailed upon the young man to avoid trouble, pointing out the fickle nature of casual shipboard acquaintances.

LIVERPOOL, encouraged by companions as evil as himself, deliberately sought a meeting with the young man. Finally a chance encounter brought them together. Still smarting from the beating he had received, Liverpool now claimed his wife had been insulted and demanded satisfaction.

"Wife!" exclaimed the indignant Englishman. "I did not know she was your wife."

"She wasn't then, but she is now," shouted the ruffian, whereupon he spat full in the Englishman's face, crying again, "I demand satisfaction, here, now—"

Struck by the desperate implacable nature of the man and insulted beyond endurance, the Englishman agreed to fight him. Pistols were produced and the two, followed by a crowd of several hundred, repaired to a field on Church Hill, where Rae Street afterward ran.

Arrived on the spot, the required distance was paced off and lots were drawn for choice of positions. These preliminaries being ended, the combatants took their places. With growing uneasiness the public massed themselves together. Strain was visible on every face. Presently a voice called out:

"Are you ready?"

Everyone was tense with apprehension. The fatal signal was given—two shots rang out. Stumbling forward, the young Englishman stretched out his hand, gave a shuddering cry, then murmured in a broken voice as he fell: "Help me..." But he was beyond all earthly assistance.

Here died a brave young man, fresh from an English college, a scholar and a gentleman. Nothing in his efforts revealed his identity—no one knew his right name. His antagonist disappeared for a while, then reappeared in San Francisco, on a charge of murdering a shipmate, to be executed promptly by the authorities there. And so ended the career of the notorious outlaw, Liverpool Jack.

It was whispered later that the girl with the wealth of brown hair and beautiful dark eyes was frequently seen wandering about the streets at night like a lost soul, but no one knew what became of her.

HUMAN VS. ANIMAL SUFFERING

Out here at the end of the West, on the sidelines as it were, you and I have watched the inconsistency of mankind. For years we've observed "humanitarian" of war and bestowed a superior smile on the string codes of men who clamor for the preservation of art and condone the destruction of young bodies in battle. For a long time we've considered our own little sanctuary of sanity inviolable by the antiques of ordinary minds. For so long have we been serenely satisfied with the logic of our social niche that I'm afraid some of us would have been surprised to pieces if we had witnessed the meeting of the Defence League of Canada in the S.P.C.A. offices a few nights ago.

I'm afraid you and I might have been puzzled as those men and women, assembled in a room devoted to the elimination of animal suffering, soberly sought ways of training the youngsters of this country to stick bayonets into the tender tumblers of other youngsters.

Perhaps you and I would have been confused by the lady who pleads for kindness to dogs and cats and dickybirds but doesn't understand mothers who don't seem anxious for their sons to learn to batter brains with rifle bullets.

But I suppose you and I could have called forth our tolerant, superior smile again while we thanked heaven that we have no boy children.

Who First Saw Sea-serpent?

To the Editor:—In answer to letters and articles in connection with the controversy, "Who Saw Caddy First?" I may say I have a complete record of the evidence, and all the facts in connection with Cadborosaurus. I state the facts with comments on the evidence submitted.

It seems that on October 1, 1933, while cruising near Chatham Island, Major and Mrs. Langley sighted a marine monster. Extracts from Major W. H. Langley's statement: "We both saw a huge object about ninety to 100 feet off. It was only visible for a few seconds. It was every bit as big as the back of a large whale, but entirely different in many respects. It had markings along the top and sides—they seemed to be of a serrated nature. The only part of it that we saw was the huge dome of what was apparently a portion of its back."

The above statement was published October 6, 1933, and included a statement by Mr. Kemp.

The statement made by Major Langley is the known evidence of a marine monster with a dome-shaped, serrated back in these waters, previous to the appearance of dome-shaped, serrated back of Cadborosaurus, when it made its appearance in Cadboro Bay, October 14, 1933.

This proves conclusively that the first parties to get a glimpse of a marine monster with dome-shaped, serrated back in these waters, afterwards known as Cadborosaurus, were Major and Mrs. Langley.

The dome-shaped, serrated back is the characteristic feature of Cadborosaurus. His body is, approximately twenty feet in length, with a diameter eight feet, tail thirty feet, head and neck ten feet, total length sixty feet. Caddy has the appearance of a camel in the water, and is not a sea-serpent.

W. H. Kemp made the statement he had seen a monster on Chatham Island on August 10, 1932, about fourteen months previous to this incident. Mr. Kemp admits by his own evidence that had not seen Cadborosaurus but a huge sea-serpent with a flowing mane.

Extracts from published statement by Mr. W. H. Kemp: "Mr. Kemp judged it to be 300 or 400 feet away, and although he could not see it distinctly was able to view its entire length which lay on the surface of the water. He could plainly see its serrated back, which near the tail resembled the cutting edge of a saw. After staying for two or three minutes the animal slid off the rocks. Mr. Kemp described the head as being oval shaped, as he was not able to see any distinguishing features."

Extracts from Mr. Kemp's signed statement: "The creature shot its head out of the water on to the rock, then fold after fold of its body came to the surface. Toward the tail it appeared serrated. The movements were those of a crocodile. Around the head appeared a sort of mane which drifted around the body like kelp. I should say its length to be not less than eighty feet. The body must have been at least five feet thick. I could not determine the shape of the head, but it was much thicker than the body. The position it held on the rock was momentary." The statements are vague and contradictory. He states he did not see the object distinctly and then described the tail resembling the cutting edge of a saw. He also states he could not see the shape of the head but it was much thicker than the body.

It looks like a midsummer's afternoon dream after a heavy picnic lunch, a drowsy feeling, the hot sun glistering and shimmering on the surface of the water casting shadows and reflections among the rocks, creating a phantasmagory. It seems to me that the creature described by Mr. Kemp is a huge sea-serpent, five feet thick, eighty feet long, a large head with a flowing mane. There is no corroborating evidence that the creature existed. There is only the statement by Mr. Kemp. There is no record that it has been seen during the last four years.

This creature is not Cadborosaurus. It has no dome-shaped, serrated back similar to Cadborosaurus. It has nothing in common, and absolutely nothing to do with Cadborosaurus, Mr. Kemp did not see Cadborosaurus.

It seems to me, according to the evidence, that Mr. Kemp drew a sketch in detail of his impressions of a sea-serpent entirely different in appearance as described in his statement. Fourteen months after he had seen it, and it was published with the title of Caddy. Cadborosaurus, the Cadboro Bay Sea-Monster, without permission of the copyright owner. I made no comment, I had all the facts and the copyright in my possession. It was interesting to watch the controversy. When Cadborosaurus was discovered many people, especially the newspaper reporters, considered it a fake. It was not a fake, but required time to establish the fact. During the last three years sufficient evidence exists to prove the existence of Cadborosaurus.

THE BEST BEST UNWRITTEN

To the Editor:—In the last resource any municipal bond as to security of principal is as strong as any other bond issued within the British Empire; therefore, up to date, there is no form of bond issue quite so safe as an integral part of the universe not an integral part of said Empire.

This is news, no doubt, to many; but, such is one valid reason why we are, and should always be proud to be, a part and parcel thereof.

Such prodigious safety, however, is no reason at all why any authority in Canada should either pleasantly or with malice aforethought, or dumbly duly proceed to load its people with debt.

We, in Victoria City, are now in the throes of a debt, which our now newly-born babies' babies will be helping to pay.

What one might easily further write and what promises borrowing is most assuredly best left unwritten!

HELD UP AT B.C. BORDER

To the Editor:—I notice some letters in your paper lately from winter tourists from the prairie provinces who had to take out British Columbia licenses for their cars. As I was one of the victims I will give my experience. This is my fifth winter in Victoria. Other years I came out on the railroad. This year I came earlier and by car.

Imagine my surprise when I reached the British Columbia border, about September 27, at being stopped by two policemen and asked a lot of questions as to my destination and how long I expected to stay. As the time I mentioned was over six months, I was told I had to take out a British Columbia license, which cost me altogether $21. In future I think I had better stay in the United States for some time on the way out; or go back to traveling by train, unless I stay at home.

FAMOUS THEATRE GOING

From a London Correspondent
A famous London theatre—the Prince of Wales—is to be pulled down, and on its site will arise something really new in theatre. It will be the first theatre in London to be equipped with a complete installation for showing television programmes.

Another novelty will be a bar, 66 feet long and 40 feet wide, with small shops and side shows, attached to the stalls. Here there will be a snack counter, a band and dance floor with experts giving lessons in the latest dances, and cabaret turns during the intervals of the stage show.

There will also be a movable revolving stage which can be transferred to any part of the ordinary stage as required. It will also be possible for it to be brought forward over the footlights and hand.

The new theatre, which will cost $250,000, will be finished by next autumn. It will seat 1,500 people—about double the number accommodated at present.

The Prince of Wales's has always been regarded as a "lucky" theatre ever since it was opened in 1844. Famous productions included "The Private Secretary" and "The Only Way."

Synod Closes Annual Session

Reports and Resolutions Heard at Final Meeting in Memorial Hall

After a three-hour session devoted to reports and resolutions on a number of subjects, the synod of the Diocese of Columbia closed its thirty-sixth annual deliberations at 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Memorial Hall.

The work of the Columbia Coast Mission was outlined to the meeting by Rev. Cyril Venables, skipper and chaplain of the mission-ship Rendevous, who told of a year's service which included 5,000 miles of navigation in a territory 1,100 square miles in extent and with 1,500 souls on the parish list.

Mr. Venables stressed the meaning of the weekly or monthly church services in the lives of people in lonely settlements, and then told of the medical services which the mission ship also provided. In the last five months of last year the vessel was under way for 145 hours on emergency work, he said.

He paid tribute to the work of the Women's Auxiliary in providing Christmas gifts for children who would otherwise have had nothing.

PLAN SUMMER SCHOOL
A proposal for the holding of a diocesan summer school at some upland point this year was contained in the report of Rev. E. M. Willis of Cobble Hill on the work of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education.

The board, he said, had decided not to continue its membership in the Religious Education Council of Canada.

Mr. Willis also presented the report of Deaconess Robinson on the work of the Sunday School by post and on her actions in matters of education and missions.

SOCIAL SERVICE
The need for a constructive policy for social service in the diocese was stressed by Rev. P. Comley in his report on the Social Service Council. The council, he said, was at present very much in the air, and social service was a subject considered by some churchmen to be as important as was preaching the gospel. He suggested that the present policy of working through other local organizations, tending to push the part played by the church into the background, be changed.

Bishop H. E. Buxton, presiding at the meeting, assured Mr. Comley that social service was a subject in which he was deeply interested.

W.A. IS PRAISED
"I realize how indispensable the W.A. is to the whole of the church," said the bishop after hearing from Rev. T. R. Lancaster a review of the work of the Women's Auxiliary during the year.

A committee of ten was named to go into the question of the insurance of church property in the diocese after H. M. Bell, reporting on behalf of a sub-committee on insurance, had suggested that an economy of 10 per cent might be made by the consolidation of all diocesan insurance.

Two motions in connection with the financing of the board of education were approved by the synod on submission by Mr. Willis.

On the motion by Sir Richard Lake, the synod took its position alongside the Provincial Synod on the question of religious education in the schools of British Columbia. It was pointed out that this is the only province in Canada forbidding the regular reading of Bible passages in public schools.

A brief report of the work of the Good Hope Mission was presented by Rev. Clarence Lee.

Votes of thanks were passed to the rector and wardens of St. John's Church, where a special service was held in connection with synod meeting on Tuesday night; to the rector and wardens of the Cathedral, to the B.C.-Yukon Church Aid Society, to the parish of Portsea, England, for its interest in West Coast mission work, to the clerical and lay secretaries of the synod and the staff, to Bishop Scott for presiding, and to the Cathedral Women's Guild for ministering at the two luncheons held in the Memorial Hall.

Hear Requests For Road Work

Oak Bay Works Committee Will Investigate Petitions For Improvements

Several requests for road improvements, some of which would entail considerable work, were considered briefly by the Oak Bay Council yesterday. Two were approved and the remainder were referred to the works committee for investigation and report.

Following a report from A. S. G. Musgrave, acting engineer, the council gave its approval for the paving of a section of Upper Terrace Drive in the Uplands as a local improvement measure. A portion of this work had already been sanctioned, and it was decided to complete the job at an additional cost of $700.

From the municipal school board the council received complaints of the condition of Musgrave Street, between Bowker Avenue and Estevan Avenue, and Downes Road, a by-road from Hampshire Road to Armstrong Avenue, used extensively by high school pupils.

Both these matters were referred to the works committee.

Similar action was given a request from J. T. Stott for a footpath along Crescent Road and Highland Drive and for the widening of the intersection of these two roads.

Favorable consideration was given a request from N. J. Hopkins and two other residents of Armstrong Avenue for a street light. It is estimated to cost $50.

TRACES LIFE OF SURGERY

Practice Dates Back to 3,000 B.C., Dr. Otis Lamson Tells Convention

"Observations on Surgery—Past and Present," was dealt with by Dr. Otis Floyd Lamson in his presidential address yesterday afternoon at the opening convention session of the Pacific Coast Surgical Association.

Tracing the progress of medicine and surgery from the earliest times, Dr. Lamson said that man practiced surgery even before recorded time, as described in the oldest document, the Edwin Smith Papyrus, dating 3000 B.C.

What the surgeons of ancient days lacked in skill they made up in courage and resourcefulness. Frequently he had to pay with his life if he had failed to save that of his patient.

The first recorded surgical clinic was the temple of healing at Cos, said Dr. Lamson. There, three and a half centuries before Christ, Pythagoras performed herniotomies, operated for intestinal obstruction and performed trephining of the skull.

To Claudius Galen, 131-201 A.D., surgery owed its first great step in the march of progress.

Dr. Lamson said that for 1,500 years Galen's anatomical teachings were pounded with the rhythmic beating of the rod in all schools of healing. Further records of primitive surgery were credited to Corenellus Sclaus, 25 B.C.-50 A.D. He was not a practitioner, but an author who wrote on surgical practice.

Paul of Aegina, 825-890 A.D., a famous surgeon of his time, operated for hernia and for varicocele, used a speculum in diseases of the uterus and also operated for imperforate anus and performed amputations.

The Medical School of Salerno was founded about 900 A.D.

Ambrose Pare, 1510-1590, was deservedly called the father of surgery, being the first to use ligatures to control bleeding instead of the application of hot irons, as was customary.

In the annals of surgery, John Hunter, 1728-1793, won for himself a permanent place as the founder of surgical pathology and was a pioneer in comparative physiology and experimental morphology.

About this time America thought of training its own physicians and surgeons. The University of Philadelphia, later called the University of Pennsylvania, was the first to establish a separate medical department in 1765.

Two years later the medical department of King's College was established in New York.

GREATEST STRIDES

It was in the nineteenth century that the greatest strides were made in surgery through the epoch-making achievements of three great scientists, Crawford W. Long, Louis Pasteur and Lord Lister.

The discovery of anesthesia came to fulfill a great need when surgeons were groping about for some means of rendering operations painless. The anesthetic properties of chloroform were discovered by Sir James Y. Simpson in March, 1847.

About this time Louis Pasteur began investigations by which he established the fact that micro-organisms were the cause of suppuration in wounds and the great mortality following operations. With the dawn of the twentieth century, not only did surgery begin to receive due recognition, but men of high mental capacities were attracted to the profession, hence the great surgeons and teachers of this period. Solution of the three main problems of surgery, that of haemostasis, anesthesia and asepsis, changed the limited mechanical field into a great science, said Dr. Lamson. Prior to these discoveries the mortality rate of abdominal operations was between 80 and 85 per cent. Today large series of operations are reported with a mortality of less than 1 per cent.

A good surgeon must also be a good diagnostician, the speaker pointed out. It had been stated that there are 25,000 more doctors in the United States than are needed. It had also been claimed that there were too many surgeons. Would it not be more to the point to say that there are too many poorly trained surgeons operating? Dr. Lamson suggested.

Synod Upholds Potlatch Laws

Modification of Restrictions Not in Interests of Indians, Meeting Rules

Loosening of the restrictions governing potlaches would definitely not be in the best interests of the Indians of the province, the Synod of the Diocese of Columbia decided at the closing session of its thirty-sixth annual meeting in the Memorial Hall yesterday afternoon.

The synod unanimously adopted a resolution to this effect after hearing from F. Earl Anfield of Alert Bay an explanation of the meaning and conduct of the potlatch.

The making of gifts at potlaches was merely a symbol, he said. It was a social custom with self-aggrandizement and self-exaltation for its objects.

One of the primary results of the potlatch was the marrying of young girls against their will by means of the transfer of goods or funds for the profit of self-seeking parents.

For these reasons Mr. Anfield did not favor the modifying of the restrictions placed on potlaches under the federal Indian Act.

Uplands Work Is Too Costly

Because the undertaking would prove too costly the Oak Bay Council yesterday decided against improvement of the roadway at Midland Circle, at the Uplands car terminus.

At the last meeting of the council it was suggested the municipality might undertake elimination of dangerous corners where the Uplands Road and Midland Road enter the circle. The suggestion was made by Councillor R. Angus after the council had been informed the property owned by E. W. Patison on this corner was to be subdivided.

After a survey by the acting municipal engineer, however, it was indicated the work would be too costly. Plan for subdivision of the Patison property was approved.

The income of clergymen in seventy parishes of the Diocese of London averages less than $1,500 a year.

The yacht used by the late King George, the Victoria and Albert, is the largest in the world.

Lady Aberdeen In Farewell Message

Council Women Hear Valedictory Of International Head

A moving valedictory, written by the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, on her resignation from the presidency of the International Council of Women, which office she has held since 1899, was read to the Local Council of Women by Mrs. A. C. Ross yesterday morning.

Lady Aberdeen spoke of the deep bonds of friendship and understanding which have welded the women of the International Council together for many years, inspiring them to their high purpose, and helping them along their path, guided by the Golden Rule.

DRIVERS AND LIQUOR
A resolution, moved by Mrs. Wm. Grant, urging the need of stringent precautions to ensure safety in driving, suggested that motor drivers, before receiving their licenses, be strongly warned against the danger of drinking even a small amount of liquor before driving a motor car. She also spoke of the "inadequate" sentences meted out to drivers convicted in Victoria of driving while under the influence of liquor.

CHILD WELFARE
Miss B. C. Mess presented her report as the convener of committee on child and family welfare. She spoke of steps being taken to prevent any commercialized boarding homes for babies, and also told of closer co-operation being effected between the Juvenile Court and the Children's Aid Society.

Miss Mess recalled amendments made to the Infants' Act and told of other measures taken by various agencies to ensure greater protection of children and infants. In conclusion she presented the annual report of the Children's Aid Society.

HOME ECONOMICS
Mrs. J. L. White, convener of home economics, spoke of the household training courses arranged by the Y.W.C.A. in co-operation with the provincial government and told of handicrafts promoted by the Women's Institutes. Classes in home economics are now in operation in the Victoria High School, a long-hoped-for goal of the Local Council. Mrs. D. L. McLaurin amplified the report by telling of something of the special projects undertaken by these classes, and appealed to the women for their fullest support of this work.

Mrs. White invited the members to a demonstration of handicrafts being arranged for April 2.

CATHEDRAL GROVE
Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie in her report on "National Recreation" deplored the recent announcement by Hon. Wells Gray to the effect that the reserve on the sale of timber in the Cathedral Grove area had been removed and that, in consequence, no arrangements could be made by his department to acquire the block by purchase, or exchange. She suggested that some consideration might be given to purchase that section of the block through which the highway runs, that strip which is known to the general public as Cathedral Grove, the main thing being to preserve the beauty of the drive.

PUBLIC HEALTH
Health work in the schools of Greater Victoria was reported by Miss E. Cressor of the V.O.N. in her report as convener of public health. She also spoke of the distribution of milk in the schools by the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter I.O.D.E. of the well baby clinics by the city health officer, the T.B. clinic under Dr. Kincaid, and of the clinic for the control of venereal disease. A resume was also given of the work of the Victorian Order of Nurses which last year cared for 1,945 patients in 19,900 visits.

The most outstanding development in educational history during the year was the reorganization of the elementary and junior-high schools curricula. Mrs. Edna Godson noted in her report as convener of the committee on education. After sketching the proposed changes she also touched upon new aspects in adult education, speaking of the University Extension courses and the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. study groups and other similar undertakings. She also pointed to the growth in non-fictional reading, as deduced from the Victoria Public library statistics, as evidence of more serious reading.

Mrs. D. L. McLaurin, who read Mrs. Godson's report, supplemented it by quoting official figures showing that receipts at the two Victoria liquor stores last year totaled $608,504.38, which sums would accomplish lasting benefit to the community if spent instead in the schools of the province, she claimed.

Belmont Ladies' Aid—The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid at Belmont Avenue United Church, was held at the home of Mrs. F. Emery, 1563 Gladstone Avenue, on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance of members, the president, Mrs. Emery, in the chair. The meeting opened with a hymn, after which Mrs. James Hood led the devotional period. The treasurer and the different committees gave their reports for the month. Arrangements were made to hold a St. Patrick's supper on Tuesday, March 16, at 6.15 p.m. Mrs. C. Wharton was appointed convener of the affair. It was voted that cards and flowers be sent to sick members. After the meeting the hostess served tea, assisted by her daughter, Miss Mona Emery.

A Triple Valentine

"Now I don't want any more children," says Mrs. Jenny Caporale, 109-pound mother, smiling happily at triplet daughters born to her in Brooklyn, N.Y., on Valentine's Day. "Six children are all one mother can be expected to raise, is it not so?" "Awaiting her return home are three children, the oldest of whom is thirteen. Doctors report the triplets to be fine, healthy babies."

Anfield, Mrs. J. Aspenwall and Mr. W. C. Graves. After the service, Mrs. Graves entertained at her home on Montreal Street. Mrs. Anfield poured tea, the table looking very attractive with dark red tulips and tapers set in silver holders on a lace cloth.

The Misses Venables of Richmond Avenue were hostesses to the members of Christ Church Cathedral Senior Evening Branch Women's Auxiliary on Tuesday evening, the occasion being a farewell party in honor of two members, Miss Geach and Miss Fairman, who are leaving shortly for England. At the conclusion of a very enjoyable evening, the honorary president, Mrs. J. T. Dickson, wished them God-speed and good wishes from all present, and spoke of the regret felt by all the branch at their departure. Both have been former officers in the Women's Auxiliary, Miss Fairman being secretary for the cent-a-day fund, and Miss Geach educational secretary for a number of years.

Mrs. W. Ellis Re-elected Regent

Municipal I.O.D.E.
Plan Annual Meeting In March

Mrs. William Ellis was re-elected by acclamation as regent of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the monthly meeting yesterday afternoon, when nominations for next year's officers were called for.

The annual meeting will be held on March 25 in Victoria Truth Centre at 9.45 a.m. Tea will be served by the H.M.S. Resolution Chapter. Mrs. Kylie Symons was appointed convener of the nomination committee, which includes Mrs. P. E. Corby, Mrs. T. Allen and Mrs. H. D. Parizeau.

On March 23 at 10 a.m. at headquarters, the reports of the Municipal officers will be received. The secretary, Mrs. C. Wallace Wilson, made a request that three copies of the primary annual reports be sent in as soon as possible.

Mrs. Ellis announced that the founder's day tea had realized the sum of $12.15. An application for the Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter to hold a tag day on March 5, in aid of its cod liver oil fund, was granted.

The treasurer presented the monthly report and Mrs. F. P. Beckett, educational secretary, urged the chapter to keep up its usual donations. Mrs. J. T. Jones, Echoes secretary, made a request that incoming secretaries have their quarterly reports sent in early. Mrs. George Miles, reporting for child welfare, stressed the need for milk for an undernourished child and the chapter voted the money to supply it. She requested also that annual reports of the primary chapters be sent in soon. Mrs. R. Shanks reported on the work in India and announced that Victoria chapters had fulfilled their share in meeting the obligations for the Suse Sorabji School at Poona.

Mrs. C. W. Plumb appealed to the primary chapters for donations for the soldiers' graves and ex-service-men. She also asked for annual reports. The usual ceremony will be held on Empire Day. Chapters were notified that donations for the convention fund were now due.

The Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter's cookery book will be available shortly and members are asked to send in their favorite recipes.

The meeting passed a silent tribute to the memory of the late Miss Clearhugh.

College Players Present Comedy

Tonight and Saturday at 8.15, in the Victoria High School auditorium, the Victoria College Players' Club will present "Laburnum Grove," J. B. Priestley's three-act comedy. The director, Major L. Bullock-Webster, is confident that this year's play will live up to the usual high standard of college plays.

The cast is headed by David Boyd as George Radfern, a brilliant criminal masquerading as a respectable citizen, more interested in his hot-house tomatoes than in forging banknotes. The part of Mrs. Radfern is played by Joyce Harvey, her daughter, Lucy, is portrayed by Kay Coates, who, together with Bob Tait as her fiancé, supply the love interest in this exciting and amusing story of suburban London. Lucella Ketcheson and George Kidd are cast as the unwanted, money-grabbing relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Baxley; Tom Mayne plays a character role as Joe Fletten, an old friend of George's. Les Leighton plays Inspector Stack of Scotland Yard, and the part of the constable is taken by Ronald Jeanne.

Music will be supplied by the twenty-five-piece High School orchestra, under the baton of Alfred Prescott.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRD

When there are sick children—and who has not had at least one in the family during this horrid epidemic?—it is obvious that mother needs to be spared every possible step and children must be made comfortable while ill and happy and satisfied to stay in bed during their convalescence. A mother who has been "through it," offers the following suggestions which I am happy to print.

"You know," she writes, "about pinning a paper sack to the side of the sheet, and lining the wastebasket with another sack so that paper handkerchiefs may be burned, sack and all?"

"But did you know that a card table with two legs folded under and the table laid over the top of the bed, makes a grand table upon which to feed the child or on which to play games?"

"A small bottle filled with a mild disinfectant is handy to keep on the dresser and hold the thermometer. A pillow between two bony knees is restful to the small patient and a one-sided shade on the light can be helpful in keeping the glare out of his eyes."

"Tablets can be more easily swallowed if held far back in the mouth with the head thrown back. Personally, I've found that children swallow capsules and tablets the easiest if they are placed under and not on top of the tongue. They go right down without the least effort."

"When serving soup or fruit juices or milk drinks flavored with vanilla or cocoa, use a glass drinking tube or an ordinary straw and the child can drink while partially reclining without spilling or choking."

Our own leaflets on "Diet for the Convalescent" and "How to Entertain the Sick Child" may be helpful for just these unusual situations. They may be had for a self-addressed and 3-cent stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Eldred care of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

Baking Powder Poison Shown

Jury Inquiring Into Death of Burnaby Woman Hears
Dominion Analyst

Canadian Press

Burnaby, B.C., Feb. 26.—A Dominion Government analyst yesterday told the coroner's jury inquiring into the death here in January of Mrs. Elwood Dunbar that samples of baking powder taken from the Dunbar home had contained 50.46 per cent of a poisonous substance.

Horace O. Tomlinson said the substance was a "dangerous material" and that biscuits which Mrs. Dunbar and her son, George Short, had eaten a few hours before her death had contained the same element. He said he had found no traces of such poison in other samples of food taken from the Dunbar kitchen.

The woman's son and her husband, Gordon A. Dunbar, said the baking powder (a local brand) had been purchased at a store in North Burnaby and that they had seen her open and use it for the first time before supper January 13, the day before she died. The father said he had not eaten any of the biscuits, but that his stepson had eaten two and his wife from four to six. Both later became ill.

Dr. George E. Purvis of New Westminster, who performed the autopsy, said he was convinced the woman had died as a result of a chemical irritant. Mr. Tomlinson, giving further evidence, said that he had found traces of the poison in other tins of the same brand of baking powder taken from other homes in which witnesses said they had been ill after eating food prepared with the powder.

The hearing was adjourned until today.

Study Clubs Solved Antigonish Problem

Local Council of Women Hear Archbishop MacDonald's Story of Community Movement

How the little fishing centre of Antigonish, Nova Scotia, lifted itself out of the depression and became a thriving, prosperous community through its co-operative movement was revealed in the interesting story told by Archbishop J. H. MacDonald before the Local Council of Women, at its annual meeting yesterday afternoon.

GREW OUT OF DEPRESSION

The speaker sketched the geographic and economic background of the movement, which was launched in Antigonish, twenty-one years ago when, owing to hard times, a general exodus of the population started. It was realized that education was the only solution to the problem, but an education designed to help them work to the best advantage on their farms and in their various industries.

Study clubs had proved the salvation of this maritime community, study clubs of perhaps ten in which problems were threshed out, and the men and women taught to think for themselves. So well had the clubs succeeded in teaching the people to think for themselves that politicians hesitated to visit that part of the world, the speaker noted, with a smile.

From the study clubs grew the co-operative movement, and in one desperately poor community, the people had, by co-operative effort, built a lobster factory. At the end of the first year's operation they had cleared $4,000 net, after paying off $2,000 borrowed for the enterprise.

AMAZING RESULTS

The movement had spread, with astonishing success wherever it was instituted, the Archbishop recalled, and people of all denominations found in these clubs many of the remedies for their social, economic and spiritual problems. In 1928 there were about 400 study clubs with 2,600 members. Antigonish College took over the whole scheme in 1929 and made study clubs part of the faculty. In 1932 the Carnegie Foundation made a survey and was pleased that it made a donation of $35,000.

Today there are 800 study clubs, with a membership of over 10,000. Thirteen lobster factories are in operation, more than twenty-five co-operative organizations among the farmers, about forty credit unions, and profits steadily mounting, he concluded.

Dr. Oles-Jardine, the president, introduced the speaker, the Archbishop, and Mrs. H. P. Hodges moved the vote of thanks and tendered the gathering's congratulations to the speaker on his elevation to the Archbishopric of Edmonton.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Mrs. Alan Campbell, for the League of Nations committee, maintained that if women since the war had had the will to peace, the world would not be in its present state of fear of war, and urged the local council members to take a step beyond "wishful thinking" and get into action.

She gave a brief resume of the work of the League of Nations Society, including methods of raising money, disseminating propaganda via literature, lectures and debates. Speaking of the parent organization of the League of Nations Society in Canada, Mrs. Campbell noted that they were trying to establish peace-action councils and bring in all societies interested in the peace movement.

In reporting as convenor of dramatic art, Mrs. Reese-Burns spoke of the forthcoming regional and provincial drama festivals and of the interest taken in their preparation. A brief reference was also made to some of the outstanding plays and productions of the theatre world during the last year, including the negro production of "Macbeth" in New York.

SAFETY IN DRIVING

An unrelenting campaign of education along lines of traffic safety had been carried on last year, Mrs. D. I. McLaurin reported, as convenor of the special committee. She announced that more instruction along the line of safe driving may be included in the proposed new High School curriculum.

She suggested that the council's programme in the coming year might well include addresses on various aspects of safety in driving, the need for enforcement of traffic laws, and similar subjects.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon asked, "What are you going to do when, after an accident in which someone is killed, the jury allows the driver to go scot free to kill someone else?" Education of public opinion was the only safeguard against such travesties of justice, Mr. Gordon declared.

CORONATION SCHOLAR

A pleasing incident at the closing session yesterday afternoon was the introduction by Trustee Mrs. D. L. McLaurin of Miss Aimee Heddle, who has been chosen as Victoria district schools representative on the coronation tour arranged by the Overseas Education League.

Miss Heddle, who is a direct descendant of two famous pioneers of Victoria, Sir James Douglas and Hon. J. S. Helmcken, and who is also a president of the Fortia Debating Society of the High School and vice-president of the Students' Debating Society, acknowledged in a very happy way the congratulations of the council, making a short speech. She displayed a handsome leather traveling bag which, under the instruction of Earl Clark, who has an enthusiastic handicrafts class at the High School, had made from native deerhide.

Miss Crease, honorary president, was also welcomed to the afternoon session.

SONGS ENJOYED

During the tea hour, capably convened by Mrs. Bertha Parsons and her committee, Mrs. F. G. Aldous delighted the delegates with two vocal solos, "Love's Philosophy" and "Two Darlings," both by Landon Ronald, Grace Allen Timp being her accompanist.

The meeting sent messages of greeting to two absent members, Mrs. R. B. McKicking and Mrs. Llewellyn Thomas. Proceedings closed with the president's thanks to Miss Savory for the beautiful decoration of the platform; Mrs. Parsons, tea convenor; the various conveners on arrangements, and all retiring officers.

Announcement was made that owing to the annual meeting of the provincial council here on March 18 the regular monthly meeting of the local council would not take place.

Californians Wade In to Eat

When you start to cook a meal there's nothing like wading right in and getting your feet wet—especially if it's in southern California where heavy rains have flooded thousands of acres and hundreds of homes. This couple refused to leave their Palm Beach bungalow, casually slipped into hip boots and had breakfast, even though their kitchen was knee-deep in flood water.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Some common terms used in discussing the spread of diseases are not well understood by many people. Two such terms, for instance, are the words "contagious" and "infectious."

A contagious disease is one that is catching, and usually implies spread by direct or personal contact, since the word "contagious" comes from a word meaning "to touch."

An infectious disease usually is one that is not carried directly, but indirectly through some hidden influence. The distinction is really an artificial one, and actually there is no difference.

Many infectious diseases are contagious, and vice versa. A better term for them is "communicable disease," which refers to a disease that can be passed from one person or one animal to another.

The carrier, as has already been mentioned, is frequently a medium of communication. About 33 per cent of people who have typhoid fever continue to discharge the germs for three weeks after the beginning of the disease, and 11 per cent continue to discharge the germs for eight to ten weeks. From 2 to 4 per cent, however, may continue to pass off germs permanently. These people are known as chronic typhoid carriers.

For some reason, women outnumber men as carriers of typhoid, which is probably due to the fact that women are more subject to inflammation of the gall bladder than are men, and that typhoid germs tend to localize and stay in the gall bladder.

The most notorious typhoid carrier is a woman known as "Typhoid Mary." She was a cook in a family for three years, and in 1901 she developed typhoid fever, following a visit to the family by someone who had the disease. A month later the laundress in this family became ill with typhoid fever.

In 1902, Mary left her job for a new place, and two weeks after she arrived the laundress in that family had typhoid fever. A week later another person became ill and soon seven members of the household were stricken with typhoid.

In 1904 Mary secured a job in a Long Island home in which were a family of four and seven servants. About three weeks after she arrived, four of the servants developed typhoid fever.

In 1906 she secured another job, and six of the eleven members of that family developed typhoid. Two weeks after beginning her next job, a laundress, was stricken with typhoid.

In 1907, she entered a home in New York City, and two cases developed promptly, one of which proved fatal.

In five years "Typhoid Mary" caused twenty-six cases of typhoid fever, so, in March, 1907, the New York Department of Health locked her up. Not much was heard of her again until 1914, when she escaped from observation and secured a job as a cook in a hospital for women in New York City.

Two months later an outbreak of typhoid fever occurred in that hospital, affecting principally doctors and nurses. Twenty-five cases in all developed. Today she is maintained at state expense in a private place in New York, where her activities as a cook at least are under control.

There are innumerable similar cases now available in medical literature, which prove definitely that a person who is infected chronically with typhoid germs must exercise extreme care in handling food and liquids for other people.

Attempts have been made to control this type of typhoid carrying by operating on the gall bladder. In many such cases, the chronic typhoid carrier may be cured of his condition by removal of the gall bladder, which is done with a fair degree of safety in most cases.

The health department of Massachusetts estimates that there are probably 1,000 carriers in that state alone. This indicates how many thousands there must be in the whole United States.

Bandit Victim's Estate $276,024

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—The will of the late Edward R. M. Oake, victim of bandits on a gold prospecting expedition in Mexico last year, has been filed in the B.C. Supreme Court here for probate.

The will of the former commander in the British Navy who was once a resident of Pouce Coupe, B.C., disposes of a net estate of $276,024, of which $5,000 is bequeathed to Mrs. P. C. Engel of Edmonton and the remainder to surviving relatives here and in England.

The bodies of E. R. M. Oake and Major John C. Hartley, blind British Columbia mining engineer, were found beside their caravan last November in Durango state, Mexico, where they had gone seeking gold. It is believed they were attacked and killed by bandits.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

By DENNIS WHEATLEY
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service Inc., William Morrow & Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British financier, aboard CARLTON ROCKS' yacht, DETECTIVE KETTERING runs into a mass of conflicting circumstances.

As the investigation nears an end and possible motives are checked for each passenger on the yacht, LADY WELTER, the MURDER OF BUD, INOSUKE HAYASHI, and REGINALD JOCELYN still appear to offer strong motives for the crime. Only NICHOLAS STODART, Blane's secretary, appears conclusively ruled out.

Then Lady Welter's maid appears, and, corroborates previous testimony which tends to account for Lady Welter's innocence. Previously Rocksvage, Mrs. Jocelyn and COUNT FOSDINI had offered rather conclusive proof of their innocence.

Next FERRI ROCKS' is called for re-examination and under pressure he admits that the great almost an hour with Jocelyn in her cabin, which time would cover the period of the murder. Thus only Hayashi and the Bishop remain as likely suspects of the crime.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

After my third examination of Miss Ferri Rocksvage it occurred to me that the letter Hayashi alleged he had been writing might have been posted and would then still be in the postbag as, in the course of routine, I had given instructions on the morning of the 8th that no letters were to be sent ashore. This turned out to be the case, and I had the letter translated by the yacht's second cook, who is a Japanese. He attests that the original could not have been written in less than eight minutes, leaving Hayashi only twelve minutes to change. His story, therefore, appears to be true.

The lounge steward, Cané, confirms the fact that the supply of ship's notepaper in the writing room ran out early in the afternoon, before Hayashi came on board, and that he could not refill the racks until the chief steward, who had the keys of the store room, got back from his trip ashore.

He further states that Hayashi handed him the letter for posting on arriving in the lounge at 8.15. It is obvious, therefore, that Hayashi could not have procured the paper earlier or written the letter at any other time than that appearing in his statement.

The cabin steward, Ringbottom, also confirms that Hayashi was still unchanged when he brought him the supply of ship's notepaper at 7.55. Attested translation herewith.

S.Y. GOLDEN GULL.

At sea, 9-1-37.

My dear Kashima,

As you know, instructions were given by Shikoku to do the business either with Mr. Rocksvage or with Mr. Blane. Shikoku refused to offer you anything. Therefore any compensation you may receive will have to come out of my own money. It depends on the fee which will be paid to me by Mr. Blane or Mr. Rocksvage.

I understand that Rocksvage will agree to a loan of ten million dollars for my share. I told them that this was the lowest you would accept. My expenses have been considerable, and I am therefore suggesting that we divide this amount between us, and on that understanding I am proceeding with the matter.

Yours,
(Signed) INOSUKE HAYASHI.

To the best of my knowledge and belief the above is a full and true translation of the letter handed me by Detective Officer Kettering.

YIMMO YAMATO,
Ship's Cook.

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S THIRD EXAMINATION OF THE BISHOP OF BUDE.

K.—Come in, Bishop. Have you thought of anything since this morning which might show us how you were occupying yourself between 7.05 and 8.00 on the night of Blane's death?

B.—No. I wish I could, but I can't think of anything.

K.—What time did Blane come to your cabin?

B.—Blane?

K.—Yes, Blane. It's no good denying it. I've got the goods on you. Just a little thing that happened to be in your wastepaper basket. See, it's a book marked with "Adlon-Claridge" on it, the New York hotel from which Blane wrote you a few days back. Nobody except Blane could have left it where we found it, and it proves that, after he came on board, he went along to see you in your cabin. Now, what have you got to say?

B.—But Officer—I—I—

K.—I want the truth. What time did Blane come along to you?

B.—Oh dear, oh dear. This is terrible. Quite terrible.

K.—What time did he come, I say?

B.—Only a few minutes after the ship sailed. I hadn't been in my cabin more than three minutes when he came in.

K.—How long did he stay?

B.—Only two minutes. No more, I assure you.

K.—Why did he come?

B.—Just to ask if I had got his letter.

K.—What did he say?

B.—Only—only—only after asking if I'd got his letter, that it would be well for me to remember that we were very good friends, indeed.

K.—Then you went back with him to his cabin?

B.—No.

K.—You're prepared to swear to that?

B.—I am.

K.—That he left you at about 7.10 and you never saw him again?

B.—I never saw him again.

K.—Then what in hades were you doing all that time? It didn't take you fifty minutes to change.

B.—No, no. I read a little first.

I told you, but I never left my cabin. I am prepared to swear to that before Almighty God.

K.—What did you read?

B.—I read an essay of R. L. Stevenson's.

K.—What was it about?

B.—What was it about? Why, it was—well, you know, I really don't remember; most odd indeed, I can't remember, most unusual.

K.—Listen, Bishop, you're in a spot, you're in a spot, I say. I've got all the movements of every other party in this ship checked up, and, unless you can prove your alibi, I am proposing to run you for the murder of Bolitho Blane.

B.—You can't, you can't do that. I didn't do it.

K.—You had motive, you had

Human Organs Are Shown In Action

Remarkable Demonstration of X-Ray Sound Films, Depicting Heart, Lung and Stomach Action, Given Here By Dr. Kunio Kawashi Before Pacific Coast Surgical Delegates

Sound cinematography depicting the action of the human heart, lungs and stomach, gripped the interest of the delegates to the Pacific Coast surgical convention at a demonstration at the Empress Hotel last night by Dr. Kunio Kawashi of Nagoya, Japan.

The amazing demonstration given here is the second time the X-ray movies have been shown on the North American Continent, the first time being at Chicago recently, when Dr. Carlson, the eminent specialist, said: "At last we've got something which is going to lead us somewhere."

The brain-child of Dr. Kawashi, graduate in medicine of the Imperial University of Tokyo and associate professor of surgery at the Nagoya Medical University, aided by Dr. Makoto Saito, head of the surgical department at Nagoya University, and Dr. H. Hayashi and Dr. R. Sugli, this remarkable discovery, achieved after eight years of research, is expected to play a prominent part in revolutionizing the treatment of heart disease as well as in diagnosis of pulmonary and digestive ailments.

The clearness of the films and the detail revealed as the human subjects were projected on the screen impressed the expert and critical audience and the Japanese professor was warmly applauded by the surgeons.

"This is only in its infancy, but as it is developed it should prove of inestimable value to the surgical profession," was the comment of one prominent surgeon present. "By this means," he said, "comparisons could be made between the normal and abnormal organs of the human body."

"Did you get that synchronous movement of sound—that swish, swish. Take out the overtones and you've got a rhythmic beating of the heart," said another.

The sound effects as demonstrated may mean something to the practiced ear of the surgeon, but to the layman the synchronization of the pulsing heart resembled the rumbling reverberations of a sustained earth tremor, while the lung movement also gave a steady roar, but pitched in a higher key.

METHOD EXPLAINED

Dr. Kawashi, after demonstrating the heart, lungs and stomach in action, movements of the respiratory diaphragm, action of the stomach and duodenum, digestion of food, movement of the gall bladder, respiration of the human bronchi, cancer of the esophagus, contraction of the aorta, Burger's disease, knee and wrist action, throat gargling, degeneration, pelvis, ureter and urinary bladder and pulmonary embolism, presented a paper descriptive of his research work.

Two methods are used for taking X-ray pictures in the human body direct and indirect. Dr. Kawashi stated.

The direct method, photography of the organs, using an invisible X-ray, takes photographs in series and is now valuable for practical purposes. The indirect method consists of filming the image appearing on the fluorescent screen.

Years of effort by Dr. Kawashi and his associates proved fruitless owing to the feebleness of the fluorescence and low sensitivity of the film, too small aperture and diameter of the lens, and, finally, the direct action of the X-ray to the film, which passes through the screen and camera.

Dr. Kawashi said that in 1935 he had made a cone-camera fitted with a lens 1.85 f-5.5, called R-Biotor which projected the X-ray from interfering with talking pictures. Discovering that the X-ray tubes used with this camera were easily burned and broken by the high-tension current, he substituted a special tube made for coloring the crystal with the water-cooling method instead of oil. Running water driven by motor pump is utilized, the pump being well insulated against high tension. This method, he said, met with success.

A screen consisting of the mixture of zinc sulphate and cadmium sulphide was the best, observed from the water-cooling method, also by testing various screens and films.

The optical intensity and dosage of Roentgen-cinematography of the stomach, intestines, pelvis, and ureter of humans is 125 K.V.P.-50 M.A., he said. For the chest 110 K.V.P.-50

Film Society

ONLY IN THE LAST three years have film societies come into prominence. They now exist in Great Britain and in the Dominions. Victoria's branch of the Film Society is the tenth to be formed in Canada in the last two years.

The character of the movement is essentially co-operative. A film society is simply a group of people interested in obtaining good motion picture entertainment of cultural or technical interest. Already it has been noted that different branches are interested in different phases of the cinema art; Ottawa like pictorial film, whereas Vancouver has shown mainly documentary and controversial films.

There is a chance within the group of having meetings for discussion, for showing 16 mm. films.

In Vancouver within a year, there are 800 members, as well as 400 on the University of B.C. campus. There is a Film Bulletin published, and various other projects are being discussed. In the field of the film, the society functions in a similar way to the Little Theatre in the drama.

Lord Tweedsmuir has supported the movement with enthusiasm and has been named honorary president of the society. The purpose of the group is to promote the study and the appreciation of the film as an educational and cultural factor in the life of the community. Without any doubt visual education is fast becoming an important factor in the schools and in adult education.

The first showing of the Victoria branch, a closed society with its membership limited will be at the Oak Bay Theatre, February 28, at 2.30 p.m. The programme:

(1) "M." German (English captions), rather grim story; excellent technique; realization of Peter Lorre, the murderer.

(2) "Night Mail," artistic treatment of the mail train's journey from London to Glasgow; poetry and music are used in depicting the beauty of the modern system.

(3) "Jolie de Vivre," a French cartoon, fantastical.

(4) "Baroque Arts in Austria," showing art and architecture of the flowering of this period in Austria.

Plans for the establishing of Oak Bay's municipal fire department are proceeding steadily and it is expected complete details will be announced before long by the council's special committee, it was learned at the Oak Bay Council meeting yesterday.

With Counsellors P. A. Gibbs as chairman, a committee consisting of Counsellors J. V. Johnson and W. Len Woodhouse has been set up and is considering all matters in connection with the department.

Applications for positions and tenders on equipment have all been referred to the committee. It is anticipated plans for the department will be announced when the annual estimates are completed.

The municipal department should be established within six months at the latest as the agreement with the city for fire protection at $1,000 a month expires in that time.

M.A. is sufficient and in the animal matter smaller intensity and dosage suffices.

LISTERINE

RELIEVES SORE THROAT

BECAUSE IT KILLS ALL TYPES OF GERMS ASSOCIATED WITH IT!

You will be delighted to find how quickly full strength Listerine, used as a gargle, relieves simple cases of sore throat. It reaches deep down and kills the germs associated with sore throat on surface tissues. At the same time it cleanses these tissues and leaves them with a wonderful feeling of stimulation. And mark this: It does not harm delicate tissues as harsh mouth washes do. At the first symptom of trouble, gargle Listerine and if you do not note quick improvement, consult your physician. SPRING GARDENING

Germination Seed Tests Before Sowing Give Accurate Information on Fertility

Junior gardeners will be interested to know that good seed germination is dependent on the quality of the seed. To test seeds three things are necessary—moisture, heat and air. These three combined and applied in the proper degree will induce the seed to germinate, bringing the dormant seedling into the state of life; that is, if the seed is "viable" or able to burst into life.

A few simple devices whereby germination tests may be conducted are the soup-plate test, the rag-doll test and tests made with boxes filled with clean sand or sawdust. Perhaps the simplest and best known of these is the soup-plate test. Circular pieces of blotting paper or Canton flannel are cut to fit the plate and two lines crossing each other at the centre are drawn with India ink while the blotter or cloth is dry, thus dividing the circle into four sections. Four varieties may be tested at the same time by placing ten, fifteen or twenty seeds, depending on their size, in each quarter section. Moisten the blotter or cloth before placing the seed. A second plate is then inverted and placed over the first to prevent drying. In testing large seeds such as corn, beans or pumpkins, place them between two layers of cloth or blotter before covering with the plate. The room temperature during the test should be about seventy degrees during the day, and not much below sixty degrees at night.

AIR COMBATS ROTTING

If, in the course of the test, blotter or cloth gets too dry, more moisture should be applied, but the water should not stand over the seeds as that would exclude the air, the third essential to germination, which keeps the seeds from rotting.

The time required for germination of most vegetable and flower seed, expressed in number of days, has been established, and tables listing these may serve as a guide in judging when to expect germination to start. Day by day, the number of seeds which have germinated in each division are counted and recorded. When the test has been completed, the percentage of germination of each lot may be learned by simple computation based on the records taken. Perhaps the most valuable lesson junior gardeners will learn from these tests is that those seeds which tested poorly, say 50 per cent germination, will have to be sown doubly thick when the time for outdoor gardening comes.

In the "rag-doll" test, cloth only, preferably Canton flannel, is used because it seems to absorb just the right amount of moisture. Strips of cloth about a yard long and seven inches wide are marked off into one-inch squares, starting about one and one-half inches from the long edge and about three to four inches from the ends. The cloth is then placed flat on a table and the seeds placed on the squares. With large seeds, such as corn and beans, one seed is sufficient in each square using six or twelve squares for one variety and leaving a row of blank spaces between varieties. When testing small seeds perhaps five to ten are put in each square.

MAKING A "RAG DOLL"

The strip of cloth is then rolled tightly on a stick, the thickness of a broom handle, keeping the stick flat on the table while rolling. By winding tightly and fastening the top and bottom with a piece of string around the stick after rolling is completed, the seeds will be kept in place. The whole "rag doll" is then put into a pail of water for a few minutes until the material is saturated, after which it is removed and allowed to drain. The test is then continued in the same way as in the first method. The unrolling has to be done with the same care as the rolling up, keeping the cloth flat on the table.

Authors Hear Rev. J. P. Hicks

Rev. J. P. Hicks, editor of The Western Recorder, spoke on editorial writing and his experiences as an editor before the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at a meeting in the Women's Institute rooms yesterday evening.

Mr. Hicks told of the trying but amusing incidents in an editor's life, both from the editorial and the business standpoint. Miss Sarah Jean McKay gave a humorous craft talk entitled, "Farewell to the Fly-leaf Classics," pointing out the extravagance of language and ideas in modern advertising. Horatio Wallace, formerly of Winnipeg, read several of his published poems. A round-table talk in which each of the authors present told some amusing oddity in connection with sending out manuscripts or receiving rejection slips was held during the evening.

Miss Eugenie Perry was in chair. There are 4,896 "talkie" theatres and only one silent picture theatre in England. The latter is located at Manchester.

NEW PLAN FOR DUMP DUTIES

Canadian-British Trade Agreement Provides Reciprocal Measures to Prevent Practice

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—Revision of dumping duties to provide a greater degree of reciprocal treatment of United Kingdom goods offered for sale in Canada is included in the new British-Canadian trade treaty tabled in the House of Commons yesterday by Finance Minister C. A. Dunning. The new arrangement exempts particular classes of British goods from special or dumping duties. Previously competitive Canadian goods could enter the British market free of ordinary duties and dumping duties, and in some cases be sold at prices below the fair market value, while British goods were liable to ordinary duties plus special duties if the British manufacturer tried to meet dumping by dumping.

FAIR PLAY BASIS

"This will be recognized as neither more nor less than an assurance of fair play both for the British manufacturer and the Canadian consumer," Mr. Dunning said. "I hope this evidence of the government's determination to give no shelter or protection to unfair practice in export or import trade will in itself lead offenders to abandon the practices complained of, and make it unnecessary to apply the procedure provided for in the agreement."

WILL BE ON LOOK-OUT

Under the new procedure, if it appears to the British government any goods entering the United Kingdom free of duty are exported from Canada at prices lower than the fair market value for home consumption, prejudicing the sale of similar goods of British manufacture, it may notify the Canadian Government.

The Canadian Government may then take steps to correct the situation, and if this fails will exempt similar goods manufactured in the United Kingdom from special dumping duties in Canada as long as it is necessary.

DOG DRIVERS AND PREMIER TALK

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 26.—The Gree brothers, Denham and Harvey, arrived on Parliament Hill today with their team of nine dogs and were met at the main door of the House of Commons by Prime Minister King at the close of their 600-mile trip from Timmins, Ont.

They presented a gold-plated invitation to the Prime Minister to attend the Timmins "Old Home Week" at the end of July.

Mr. King thanked the brothers and said that if the Imperial Conference following the coronation should end before July 1 he would attend the jubilee.

SCHOOLS TO AID JUBILEE

Thousands of Children to Perform in Historical Pageantry

Elaborate pageantry by Victoria's schoolchildren will form a feature of the city's seventy-fifth anniversary ceremonies during the Coronation period, it was decided at a meeting of the celebration committee with school authorities Wednesday.

On the nights of May 10 and 11 the children will appear in massed spectacular historical presentations at a local theatre, and on May 12, Coronation Day, they will transfer their activities to Macdonald Park where thousands will be seen in physical exercises, dances and displays.

The indoor shows will be centred mainly around three periods. One will represent the Elizabethan era, the second will be based on the motif of the Delhi Durbar held for the crowning of Queen Victoria. The third period has not yet been definitely set.

Interpreted between the three major features will be historical tableaux. They will include a scene depicting early days in Victoria, the farewell of King Charles I to his family, the coming of the Phoenix tin traders to Britain and the signing of the Magna Carta. Other spectacles will represent Australian scenes, while Africa will be honored with a tableau of the meeting of Stanley and Livingstone.

A page from the life of Jacques Cartier will provide the early Canadian spirit, while the British Navy will be remembered in a set of Nelson ordering his final message.

The entertainment at Macdonald Park on Coronation Day will be provided by groups in physical activities of the schools.

Tiny tots from grades 1 and 2, to the number of 500 will present their exercises before an equal number from the junior grades are seen in dances.

The High School will be represented by 700 students in a massed display of club swinging while 1,000 from grades 3, 4, 5 and 6 will perform exercises.

Sixty-one reels will be presented by 500 dancers from the senior grades of the public schools while a corps of 350 cadets will give a display of their work.

Following a flag drill by boys of grades 7 and 8, a massed assembly of between 1,000 and 1,500 students will be seen in a Coronation pageant and other exercises.

Despite the Depression!

Even during depression years, the total resources of Investors Syndicate continued to increase substantially. Now, they total $90,889,855—a tribute to the stability, strength, and conservatism of an institution that has helped thousands to achieve financial independence.

In Canada, the LIVING PROTECTION plan of Investors Syndicate is being used by thousands of Canadians throughout the Dominion to build up a financial reserve for their mature years. Under this plan, a little set aside each month—regularly—returns a sizeable little fortune in 180 months.

During the past seven years of depression and recovery, Investors Syndicate has paid out to its contract-holders no less a sum than $55,352,834.

Our booklet "A New Plan of Life" tells you all about the plan. Your copy awaits your request.

Australian Cricketers Score 342 For Three In Test Match

THE SPORTS MIRROR Don Bradman and McCabe Shatter English Bowling

Former Gets 165 Not Out and McCabe 112; Fine Start in Deciding Clash
52,342 Attend At Melbourne

Canadian Press
 Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 26.—Sparkling centuries by Don Bradman and Stanley McCabe gave Australia an excellent start in the fifth and deciding test cricket match against England today. When play closed the Antipodean total had been carried to 342 for three wickets, the Aussie skipper compiling 165 not out and McCabe, 112.

A crowd of 52,342 sent up a cheer when Bradman won the toss and sent the Australians in to bat. With a perfect wicket to play on 'the home team had a real advantage and made the best of it. Victory will give Bradman and his colleagues the rubber and the mythical "ashes" emblematic of world cricket supremacy. The teams are tied with two wins each.

Bradman gave a faultless display and equalled the record of twelve centuries made by Jack Hobbs, famous Surrey batsman, in England-Australia tests. When play closed the young skipper had been at the wickets for two hours, thirty minutes, hitting seventeen—sure.

SIXTEEN BOUNDARIES
 McCabe, Australian vice-captain, batted vigorously for nearly three hours. After hitting sixteen boundaries he finally attempted to big his off, Hedley Verity and was caught by Kenneth Farnes at mid-off, being third man out at 303.

C. L. Badcock, South Australia, stayed with Bradman until the close of play, scoring twelve fifties. J. H. Fingleton, New South Wales, and K. E. Rigg, Victoria, opened the innings for the Australians. W. A. Brown, veteran Queensland first-wicket batsman, being dropped from the team. Rigg left at forty-two after scoring twenty-eight runs and Fingleton was dismissed a few minutes after lunch with the total at fifty-four.

Play was uneventful before lunch. Fingleton and Rigg putting up a stolid defence. The former was in difficulties at the start, surviving an appeal for leg-before-wicket by Farnes and being dropped by Allen, English skipper in the same over. Rigg was the more courageous, but after making twenty-eight, flicked a ball from Farnes into the hands of Leslie Ames behind the wicket. Bradman followed Rigg and with Fingleton carried the score to fifty-four at lunch.

On the resumption the second ball sent down by Farnes saw Fingleton give a gift catch to W. Voce at second slip. The New South Wales player had an uncomfortable landing and never appeared safe when opposing the fast bowlers.

The Bradman-McCabe partnership continued until the tea interval, but Allen dropped a hard chance given by McCabe when he had made eleven. After that the pair settled down to play confidently. The double-century went up in a shade more than three hours, and the 300 mark was reached an hour later.

Play proceeded in warm, sunny weather, the gate realizing more than $20,000.

THE BIG SEVEN
 Sweeney Schriner of New York Americans, picking up a point here and a point there in a bid for his second straight scoring championship, mixed into a three-way tie for second place in the National Hockey League scoring race last night with an assist that boosted his total to thirty-seven points, three behind the leading Larry Aurie of Detroit. His was the only change in the big seven, Johnny Gagnon of Canadiens being the only other leader to register a point.

The leaders follow:

	G	A	Pts
Aurie, Detroit	22	18	40
Schriner, Americans	16	21	37
Apps, Toronto	13	24	37
H. Jackson, Toronto	13	24	37
Gagnon, Canadiens	13	14	35
Chapman, Americans	6	23	31

BAER STILL IN RUNNING

New Deal May Allow California Heavyweight to Fight Bob Pastor

Associated Press
 New York, Feb. 26.—It seemed today Maxie Baer may have been only fooling again when he threatened to sail to England for his fighting, after walking out of a New York State Athletic Commission meeting.

Max may have been serious at the time, but Madison Square Garden's promoter, Jimmy Johnston, who wanted the ex-heavyweight king for a bout with Bob Pastor in the Eighth Avenue sports arena, doesn't want to let him go.

As a result, Johnston and Maxie's manager, Ancil Hoffman, conferred for several hours last night over what the latter said was a "new deal" on the situation, details of which he refused to divulge.

Max considered himself insulted when New York Athletic Commissioner Bill Brown referred to him as "a couple of bums" at the commission meeting Wednesday. He walked out of the meeting.

At that time Hoffman announced Baer would accept a London offer to meet the winner of the coming Ford-Farr fight. Hoffman said last night, however, that if the new "plan" goes through, the Baer-Hoffman entourage would cancel its plans to sail next Wednesday.

Major Hockey Leaders Now Battle to Better League Positions

TORONTO MAKE FINAL BID FOR RUNNER-UP SPOT

Defeat Canadiens 3 to 1 and Creep Closer to Maroons; Americans Win

Detroit Wings Take Chicago

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press

Things aren't working out as they should in the national Hockey League. The idea of the whole four and a half months of schedule play is to decide which six of the eight teams shall reach the playoffs. To produce the pulse-quickening finish that means big gates there should be no laggards. But there is no indication of such in exciting stretch drive this season. With almost a month to play there is no doubt which six teams will fight it out for the league title and the Stanley Cup. Almost all that remains to be worked out is the order in which they will finish.

When Chicago Black Hawks were beaten 3 to 1 in Chicago last night by Detroit Red Wings they lost all but a mathematical chance of getting in the playoffs. New York Rangers would have to lose their remaining eight games and Hawks win their nine for Chicago to make it.

New York Americans seem hopelessly out of the Canadian division although they still have a mathematical chance. They are seven points behind Toronto and the Leafs, stronger than ever with Charlie Conacher back, would have to stumble badly to let America in.

So the excitement will have to be produced by the teams fighting it out for the first three spots.

STILL IN FIGHT

Leafs indicated they will make a fight for second place when they defeated Canadiens 3 to 1 last night in Montreal. It put them only three points behind Maroons who trail Canadiens by eight.

The lagging interest in Amerks was demonstrated in New York when only 7,000 saw their battle with Boston Bruins last night. Red Dutton's team kept punching with a 3 to 1 win over Art Ross's Bostonians.

Canadiens were without Babe Siebert, their star defenceman, for the contest with Toronto. Leafs got the edge with two first period goals by Bill Thoms and Nick Metz, made it 3 to 0 through Buzz Boll early in the second and then held Habitués to Johnny Gagnon's middle-period counter.

Gordon Drillon, Leaf winger who has been mentioned for the Lady Byng Trophy for clean and effective play, got his first penalty of the season in the third period. He and Paul Haynes went off together for bumping each other. The Toronto rookie, however, still has the cleanest record of any of the leading scorers.

VETERAN STARS

Old Nels Stewart won the game for Amerks against Boston. He took a pass from Sweeney Schriner for a first period goal that made Bruins toes caution aside. Americans broke through their gang attacks for tallies by Roger Jenkins and Joe Jerwa in the third, while Charlie Sands scored the only Boston goal.

Detroit scored a goal in each period to win at Chicago. All three were driven in by Ottavians, Syd Howe getting his in the first and the Kilrea brothers, Hec and Wally, dividing the second and third period markers. Louis Trudel got Chicago's goal.

TORONTO-CANADIENS.

First period—1, Toronto, Thoms (Horner), 5:06; 2, Toronto, Metz (Davidson, Finnigan), 12:00. Penalty: Hamilton.

Second period—3, Toronto, Boll (Conacher), 3:53; 4, Canadiens, Gagnon (Brown), 11:05. Penalty: Horner.

Third period—No scoring. Penalties: Drillon, Haynes, McKenzie (2), Horner.

AMERICANS-BOSTON

First period—1, Americans, Stewart (Schriner), 10:18. Penalty: Portland. Second period—No scoring. Penalties: Murray.

Third period—2, Americans, Jenkins, 10:56; 3, Boston, Sands (Cowley, Goldworthy), 17:22; 4, Americans, Jerwa, 18:22. Penalty: Cook.

DETROIT-CHICAGO

First period—1, Detroit, Howe (Pettenger), 1:25. Penalty: Blair.

Second period—2, Chicago, Trudel (Gottselig, March), 5:15; 3, Detroit, H. Kilrea (W. Kilrea, H. Kelly), 18:20. Penalties: Palangio (major), H. Kilrea (major), March (misconduct).

Third period—4, Detroit, W. Kilrea (Sorrell), 19:20. Penalties: None.

LEN HOLYOAK IS PRESIDENT

Elected Head of Chinook Club at Annual Meeting; Trophies Presented

Len Holyoak, popular in local fishing circles, was yesterday evening elected by unanimous vote as president of the Chinook Club of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association at the annual meeting and banquet held in the dining-room of the Douglas Hotel.

B. H. Woolston was the choice of the meeting as vice-president, while "Smiling" Bill Rowe was returned for his second term as secretary-treasurer. The executive includes J. A. Whitehead, Dan Thomas and R. Fleming.

The suggestion of felt-cloth badges for members to wear on their sweaters or fishing jackets was advanced by Charlie Clarke. The proposal was left over for discussion at the next general meeting of the club, at which session samples will be displayed.

Holyoak, who last year acted as chairman of the club's competition committee reported that seven contests were held during the season, the following persons and the weights of their fish, being the winners: George Smith, 15½ lbs.; J. Armstrong, 15½ lbs.; R. Fleming, 17 lbs.; Frank Smith, 20 lbs.; George Smith, 23½ lbs.; Charlie Freer, 20½ lbs. and George Clifford, 23½ lbs.

COMMITTEES

The following committees were selected by the new president: Competition committee—Bill Lucas (chairman), Charlie Kinlock, George Smith, Charlie Freer, and C. L. Andrews.

Entertainment committee—Frank Moore (chairman), Charlie Clarke, Miss I. Deakin, Mrs. George Smith, and Paul Ray.

Finance committee—Frank E. W. Smith (chairman), Ellbeck Wilson, and Dr. Hugh Clarke.

Mrs. George Smith was presented with the Woolston Cup for the woman member of the club catching the largest fish during 1936. It was a twenty-two pounder. Bill Rowe was awarded the Moore Cup for the largest fish caught by a male member. His catch weighed forty-one pounds. Frank Moore, congenial past president, presided at the presentation.

Charlie Clarke, in submitting the annual report of the entertainment committee, said the committee arranged three events, all of which were successful. Secretary Rowe disclosed that after an active season a small balance was left in the club's treasury.

Frank Moore in his annual report made mention of the increased membership of the club during 1936, noting that the present membership was seventy-three, an increase of twenty-four members over the previous year. He thanked his fellow officers who had supported him during his term in office.

URGES ATTENDANCE

Dr. Hugh Clarke, president of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association expressed the thanks of officers of the parent body for the support they had received from the club during the year. He urged all to be present at the annual meeting of the organization to be held in the Chamber of Commerce on March 4, hinting that many items of interest to all members will be discussed.

Frank E. W. Smith donated a cup at the meeting, the trophy to be a sudden-death award in a competition to be named by the committee.

Scottish Elevens Play Cup Matches

Much Interest Over Third Round Soccer Engagements Tomorrow; Hamilton and Hearts Should Put on Great Battle; English League Contenders Shuffled

Glasgow, Feb. 26.—Third-round matches for the Scottish Cup provide the interest for soccer fans north of the Tweed tomorrow. Six contests are scheduled with the first division represented by eight clubs while three second league squads have survived earlier rounds. Duns, plucky Berwickshire eleven, is the only minor league team still in the running.

Aberdeen, league championship contender, and Queen of the South, conqueror of the cup-holding Rangers in the first round, drew third-round byes.

With Rangers out of the way, Celtic is gunning for its fifteenth cup. The Celts were successful in 1933 but their Glasgow rivals have held it since that year. Tomorrow Celtic is away to East Fife and the junior leaguers cannot hope for victory.

The match at Hamilton between the Academicals and Hearts is likely to provide the toughest struggle of the day. Hearts ran up fifteen goals without reply on Kings Park in the second round but they will have to be on their mettle against the Accies, a strong cup-fighting outfit.

With victories over Edinburgh City and Dumbarton to its credit, Duns meets the formidable Motherwell team in the border town. Duns recruits almost exclusively from players who have gained experience in the ranks of city clubs. Edinburgh chiefly, but Motherwell should win in a walk.

Clyde and Dundee are evenly matched with the former having ground advantage, but Partick Thistle may gain ground. In the remaining encounter, St. Mirren is favored to defeat Cowdenbeath at Paisley.

The draw: East Fife vs. Celtic. Duns vs. Cowdenbeath. St. Mirren vs. Partick Thistle. Clyde vs. Dundee. Hamilton Academicals vs. Hearts.

ENGLISH LEAGUE

London, Feb. 26.—Mid-week football games resulted in a slight shift of contenders for the English League championship, but Charlton Athletic and Arsenal, the pace-setters, played a 1 to 1 draw, the former retaining a two-point margin over its London neighbor.

Sunderland pounced Middlesbrough 4 to 1 to go into a tie with Portsmouth for third place, three points behind Charlton; Brentford dropped into fifth position with thirty-five points.

Pictures for tomorrow find Charlton home against Preston North End and though the Londoners will be without John Oakes, their centre-half, they are likely to capture maximum points. The Gunners make a long journey to Grimsby where a tough struggle is in prospect, while Sunderland is not likely to come away empty-handed from West Bromwich.

PORTSMOUTH SAVED

Portsmouth is favored to win its home match against Derby County as the Midlanders have slipped badly in recent matches. Brentford should remain in the running against Liverpool.

Fighting hard to avoid relegation to May, Bolton Wanderers and Manchester United have tough away games. The former visit Leeds and the Mancunians play Chelsea at Stamford Bridge.

The second division race for promotion finds Blackpool out in front with Leicester City and Plymouth Argyle battling for the runner-up position.

Blackpool and Leicester have home games against Southampton and Doncaster Rovers, respectively. Plymouth plays at Norwich.

In the southern section of the third division, Brighton, the leader, and Luton Town, provide the feature match to be played on the later ground. Brighton has a three-point margin over the third-place Luton squad who have two games in hand.

Notes County, in second place with thirty-nine points, one less than Brighton, should win a home game against Bristol Rovers. Chester, at the top of the heap in the northern section, is favored to take two points from Gateshead.

RAMBLERS LINE-UP

The Oak Bay Ramblers soccer team for tomorrow follows: Macready, D. Brown, McKay, Donaghy, Anderson, Olsen, Scott, T. Brown, Blyth, McIntosh, Wright, Bannister, Wells, Sheppard and Clarys. Players are requested to be at Bullen Park by 10.15 o'clock.

Canada-England In Ice Clash Tonight

Kimberley Dynamiters Will Battle English Squad in Long Wait Feature of World Amateur Hockey Championship; England Forced Into Overtime to Beat Swiss

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 26.—Kimberley Dynamiters, Canada's Allan Cup holders, tonight brush up against their greatest opposition of the world amateur hockey championship—Jimmy Foster, the former Moncton Hawk goalie and the rest of the Canadians who are playing for England.

The Canada-England contest at Wembley rink is the game everybody has been waiting for as both teams swept through the preliminary engagements, with seven wins apiece.

England, mainly because of Foster, scored seven shutouts, while Kenny Campbell, Kimberley goalie, let in three goals and scored five shutouts. In the night's other final-round fixture, Germany meets the strong Swiss outfit which last night forced England to twenty minutes overtime play before the homesters won 2 to 0.

Edgar Brenchley, Niagara Falls, Ont., and Gerry Davey, Port Arthur, Ont., were the English marksmen.

Canada turned back Germany 5 to 0 on goals by Puffy Kemp, Jimmy Foster and Ralph Redding, the latter pair counting twice each.

The tourney ends tomorrow night with Canada playing Switzerland and England meeting Germany.

NEW MATMEN BOOKED HERE

Three strangers to local followers, Rudy LaDitz, Harmon Singh and Eddie Jensen, will appear on the wrestling card at the Tillamook gym tomorrow night.

The main event has been given to LaDitz, who will exchange holds with Sailor Jack Arnold. They will grapple eight ten-minute rounds. LaDitz made his initial appearance in Vancouver last week, and measured Vic Christy, Glendale, California wrestler, for a defeat.

Harmon Singh, who recently arrived from Punjab, India, has been secured for the semi-main bout. He will have Donald McIntyre, likable Scottish matman, for his opponent. It will be Singh's first Canadian appearance.

Louie Newman, Victoria's wrestling pride, has been chosen to oppose Eddie Jensen in the special event of five six-minute rounds.

A pair of local youngsters will match holds in the four three-minute opener. The show will start at 8.30 o'clock.

Don't Marry in the Teen Age

Taste Often Changes Later

A BOY and girl in their teens, suffering from an acute attack of calf love, ask me if I can give them any good reasons why they should not marry now instead of waiting until they are decrepit old people of twenty-two or twenty-three.

Well, there are about a million good reasons why premature marriage adds extra hazards to the biggest gamble in life. A few reasons why boys and girls should not pick out their mates before they have enough judgment to buy their own hats are these:

They are immature. They have not come to themselves and do not know what they are going to be when they are grown, nor what kind of wives they and husbands they will want when they are mature. Their tastes are changing as they develop and the "fella" and "sweetie" they are crazy about one day bores them to tears the next. Generally speaking, at the age of twenty-five men and women have as completely lost their tastes for the husbands and wives they picked out at nineteen and twenty as they have for all-day suckers.

In selecting those with whom they expect to spend the next thirty or forty years they are guided solely by their childish fancies and pay no attention to the individual's character or intelligence or ability to fit into their scheme of life. A boy marries a girl because of the way her hair curls on her forehead. A girl marries a boy because he is a good dancer. And then when a husband finds out that it is inside of a girl's head that counts and not the outside upholstery, and when the woman discovers that marriage is no dancing matter for wives and mothers, another marriage goes bloomy.

It takes the discipline of life to fit men and women for marriage and adolescent boys and girls have not had this. They have not learned from experience how to get along with people, as the phrase goes. They have not learned self-control. They lack tact and diplomacy. They have not acquired the fine art of side-stepping the little peculiarities of those with whom they must live instead of barking their shins on them. They have no philosophy with which to meet the inevitable trials and tribulations of marriage. And so they quarrel and fight over trifles that older people could handle without friction.

There is not one word of truth in the old myth about a boy and girl who marry growing up together into a sort of super-congeniality. Occasionally it does happen, but when it does it is pure luck. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred they grow away from each other instead of to each other, because the development of no two human beings follows the same lines.

Look at all the unequally mated couples among you: the cultured, elegant women with dull, stupid husbands; the brilliant men with morose wives. Think of all the husbands and wives you know who have not a single taste or idea in common. These are the tragedies of early marriages in nearly every case.

Boys and girls who marry before they have any way of supporting a family take a dishonorable advantage of their parents. Most fathers and mothers work hard and make many sacrifices in order to educate their children and give them good clothes and luxuries, and they look forward to the time when their youngsters are on their own feet to being able to take things easier and spend some of their money upon themselves. But if Bob marries before he has a job, and Mamie comes home with a lad, who has never earned a dollar in his life, to be supported, it simply means that father and mother have to work harder than they ever have before and bend their backs to a heavier burden.

Children know that their parents will not let them starve and they bank on this to wish their puppy love husbands and wives upon them. Which is as scurvy a trick as any girl and boy can play upon the Old Man and Mom.

Being married works no miracle that changes the nature of youth and turns a young boy and girl into a sober, settled, middle-aged person. The young married boys and girls want to play around; they want to go to parties, dance, to have pretty clothes, to be free, just as the unmarried girls and boys do. When they can't do this; when the girl is tied down by babies and worn out with having to do her own housework and when harassed with bills that he cannot pay and burdened with cares, they wonder what made them do it.

Lastly, statistics show the earlier the marriage, the quicker the divorce. So, boys and girls, put off the wedding until you are old enough to know what you are doing and can shoulder your own responsibilities.

When Flood Waters Rise

IV—A JOHNSTOWN ADVENTURE

Seventy-five miles to the east of Pittsburgh is the city of Johnstown, in a deep valley amid the Allegheny Mountains. By the 1930 census it had a population of nearly 67,000.

Joseph Johns, a settler from Switzerland, is honored as the founder of the city. He laid out the town in the year 1800. From a tiny village Johnstown grew into a city. Then came 1889, and a flood. On the last day of May of that year, the bursting of a dam twelve miles distant set off a great flood of water from a reservoir. The water flowed from high ground down the valley, and before the day was over Johnstown was in ruins. More than 2,200 persons lost their lives in the flood. After the flood, Johnstown started the work of rebuilding. Millions of dollars were spent to repair the damage. The city grew again, and factories were busy turning out goods. All went well, so far as floods were concerned, until last year, when Johnstown was one of several cities flooded during the month of March. A Pittsburgh newspaper photographer sent me a letter, at that time, and from it I quote these paragraphs:

"Last Tuesday night, after a long, hard day of work fifty miles out of town, I was sent on a special train to Johnstown where the flood was bad. It didn't hit Pittsburgh until the next day, but in Johnstown it struck the night I left, and it struck hard."

"Frankly I'll admit I was afraid to ride on that train. It was nothing but a locomotive, a day coach, and a baggage car with a large rowboat in

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1937

Astrologers read this as an important day in planetary direction. It is a time for relaxation, for peace, and for great strain in the minds of New York and Chicago.

Again an ill omen is read for labor, which may gain great power that will assume political significance. The stars indicate that new strikes will rise up as each old difficulty is settled.
